Golf offers a unique opportunity for building relationships and expanding one's professional network. However, those who are unfamiliar with the golf course may view the sport as a barrier to career advancement. The IEGA seeks to make golf more accessible to engineering and land surveying professionals at all levels. This is an opportunity to gain skills and knowledge from an expert instructor and increase confidence on the golf course. IEGA is open to all ACEC members. All lessons will be held at Southern California Golf Schools Riverside location at the Jurupa Hills Country Club.
