Schedule of shows for 2026/27

“A garden is a good teacher. It teaches patience and careful watchfulness; it teaches industry and thrift; above all else it teaches entire trust.”

Gertrude Jekyll

Dear Members,

The new schedule for our 2026/2027 shows has some exciting new ideas and lots of your classic favourites, across varied classes. Rules and regulations for the classes and exhibits are provided within the schedule and the committee members involved should be able to answer any question you have regarding your entries; please check the schedule before you select the classes and exhibits you wish to enter. The judges have been extremely impressed by the high standard of your exhibits and I am sure they will be equally impressed over the coming two years. The schedule is produced with the help of contributions from our advertisers so, I would like to thank them. These are predominantly small business so please show them your support over the coming year. Wishing you ever success with your gardening, enjoy growing beautiful blooms and delicious vegetables, experimenting with new and exciting challenges in your gardens and allotments. I also look forward to seeing the lovely crafts, enticing cookery and entries from our young exhibitors that are increasing in numbers at each show. I look forward to seeing your results and sharing your joy.

Gail Fraser, Chair Person.

A deposit of £1 must accompany the protest and this will be returned if the appeal be successful.
28. Subject to Regulation 27, the decision of the judges will be final. The judges may withhold any prize if, in their opinion, the exhibit is unworthy of an award. Any class may be divided at the discretion of the judges or show officials.

SHOW NOTES

1. Read the schedule carefully and be sure that the number of specimens and the group according to kinds is correct.
2. Throughout the schedules the words “kinds” and “cultivars” (varieties) are used in the following sense: Sweet Peas and Roses are distinct kinds of flowers. Peace and Iceberg are distinct cultivars (varieties) of roses.
3. You are recommended to use the smallest vase that will comfortably hold the exhibit. Smaller vases often display the material to better effect.
4. Aim for uniformity of size, shape and colour. The biggest are not always the best. Be sure that your exhibits are clean and free from blemish.
5. With collections, strictly adhere to the sizes given.
6. It adds considerably to the interest if exhibitors name their cultivars (varieties) and, in case of close competition, correct naming will be a deciding factor.
7. A Vase shall be a container the height of which is greater than the diameter at the top. A Bowl may be circular, oval, rectangular, etc., but the diameter at the top shall be greater than or equal to its height.
8. A Basket shall be made of any natural flexible materials, woven or braided.
9. Narcissi. Guidance on the classification of Narcissi is available in a leaflet from the Show Secretary at 20p per copy.
10. Space Allowed. In all displays i.e. collections of vegetables, pot plants and flower arrangements, tables are approx. 610mm (2 ft) deep and frontage is 610mm (2 ft) unless otherwise indicated. Cloths and boards are permitted.
11. In all displays of floral art, plant material must predominate over accessories when used and the height of the arrangement must be in proportion. The Society will accept oasis but would prefer other alternatives to be used.
12. An arrangement of flowers is mainly a horticultural exhibit and must consist only of natural plant material (NPM) and flowers or foliage grown by the exhibitor and arranged in the exhibitors own container. Mechanics may be included. These are informal arrangements and may be judged by horticultural judges
13. An Exhibit is composed of Natural Plant Material (NPM) with or without accessories. Backgrounds, bases, containers, drapes, exhibit titles and mechanics may always be included in an exhibit. More than one placement may always be included in exhibits over 10” (256mm). Material may be purchased where stated. These classes are judged by the rules and definitions formulated by National Association of Flower Arranging Societies.
14. Definitions of Natural Plant Material and mechanics may be found in the National Association of Flower Arrangement Societies handbook available from the Show Secretary (see also page 9).
15. Cookery. In all cooking classes please provide the recipe used except where stated. Classes are normally judged to Womens Institute standards.
16. Recipes - When cooking metric and imperial measures are approximate conversions and should not be mixed. Presentation will be taken into account. Exhibitors must adhere to given recipes.
17. When displaying Preserves, jars must be labelled as to their contents, indicate the date of making on the labels, must be full and of clear glass. No named jars or lids to be used. Jams should be covered by a waxed disk and clear cover or a new twist top. Pickles should have solid covers. Lemon curd must have a waxed disk and clear cover.
18. Cordial. A soft drink with a fruit base, usually diluted.

SHOW TIPS

Always take a few extra specimens to the show in case of accidents and when you have finished staging, check the exhibit is well finished and conforms to the show schedule. There are normally experienced exhibitors around who are willing to give advice or ask the show officials for help.

Flowers should be cut at dawn or dusk, when the flowers are freshest, immediately after cutting place in a deep water, remove larger leaves from the stems. Cut all stems on slant. Flowers with hollow stems like delphiniums or any flowers with milky sap can be helped to stay fresh by placing the base of the stems in boiling water. Flowers or shrubs with woody stems should have the base of the stems crushed before they are put in water. Flowers from florists need to be cut an inch or so from the base. Mixed flower displays last longer in sugared water.

Fruits should be fresh, uniform, free of blemish, and characteristic in shape and colour. Do not use overripe fruits. Pick as near to show time as possible. Never remove the stalks or calyces of any fruit apart from citrus fruits and blueberries. Handle all fruit as little as possible to preserve the natural bloom. Cut with scissors. Harvest currants, jostaberries and worcesterberries with the strigs intact, grapes should be cut as bunch the part of the stem intact creating a T. At no stage should fruit be polished. Apples, gooseberries, medlars, pears and quinces may be shown ripe or unripe. All other fruit should be ripe. Some fruits are best staged either round the edge of, or in lines across the plate. Currants should be staged layered across the plate and mounded towards the centre.

Vegetables should be handled as little as possible to retain their natural bloom. Root vegetables should be washed with a soft sponge, not scrubbed. Carrots, parsnips and beetroot should have their small side roots removed, but their roots as long as possible, trim foliage to about 75mm. Potatoes should generally be between 200g and 250g with shallow eyes. Brassicas and lettuce should be thoroughly washed with running water to tease bugs and soil out from between the leaves. Lettuce should have their roots cleaned thoroughly. Do not remove too many outer leaves and trim back to reveal the head. Onions, shallots and garlic should be thoroughly dried. Do not overskin, the tops should be neatly tied, on garlic reduce the stem to 25mm (1 in.). Roots should be trimmed back to the basal plate: avoid soft, stained specimens with thick immature necks. Beans and peas should be handled with extra care and harvested with scissors, ensuring the stalks and tips are left intact. Peas can be held up to light to ensure they are well podded and to help detect any faults. Spinach, chard and other leaves should be harvested at the last moment, washed and kept fresh until showing, pick the best undamaged well coloured leaves complete with stalks. Rhubarb should be shown with the foliage cut back to 75mm (3 ins.). Tomatoes should not be overripe, aim for a uniform set of ripe fruits with fresh calyces; stage with the calyx uppermost. Trusses of tomatoes should be cut as near to the main stem as possible; both mature and immature fruits may be shown but at least one third should be fully ripe displaying the natural colour for the cultivar. Courgettes should be young and approximately 150mm (6 ins.) in length. Leeks should be uniform in length, in good condition and solid with a good uniform blanch that is not bulbous at the base. Avoid, excessive stripping of outer leaves and evidence of rust disease. Ensure the stem, roots and leaves are flushed clean of any dirt. Marrows, squashes, etc. should have the stalk left intact.

N.P.M. and Mechanics.

Natural Plant Material is a wide term used to describe any vegetable matter. It includes fresh, dried, wild, foliage, fruit, fungi, vegetables and seaweed.

Mechanics are the means to support plant material and to stage other parts of the exhibit. In traditional arrangements, mechanics would normally be inconspicuous. In contemporary Exhibits innovative mechanics are often intentionally visible. Further definitions are available from the Show Secretary.
