The Lone Squadron

Chapter 5

When they came out of hyperspace, they found themselves heading towards the rebel's main ship. As soon as they docked in the hangar, they were greeted by General Leia Organa herself. She sincerely thanked them and so did Admiral Ackbar. They were asked who they were so the leader said, "I am Derek, the leader of the Lone Squadron, this is Scanae, Geona, and Ranue."

After Leia and Admiral Ackbar left, the Lone Squadron decided to see what they could do to help the Rebel Alliance. The next morning Leia said that they could assist an attack squadron for an attack run on an Imperial base on Kashyyyk. They agreed and left to go immediately.

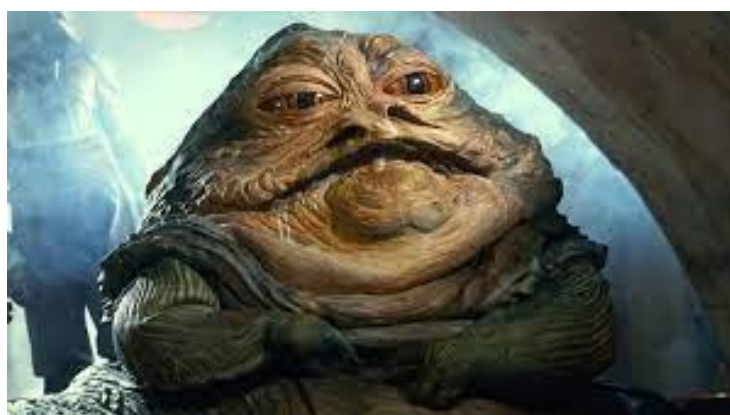

As they drew near to the Imperial's base, TIE fighters swarmed towards them to stop their attack run, the Lone squadron surged forward to protect the attack ships. The attack ships turned away while the Lone Squadron took on the TIEs.

The TIEs turned to follow but the Lone Squadron blew them up. As the attack ships neared their target, more TIE fighters flew at them. The Lone Squadron attacked the TIEs full force firing laser blasts. The ships finally reached the base and dropped their bombs. Kaboom! The base exploded and the ships flew away from the base with TIEs hot on their tail. As soon as they left the atmosphere, they made the jump to hyperspace leaving the TIEs behind.

Jabba the Puppet

In the film Return of the Jedi you see a big, slug-like creature formally called, "His Excellency Jabba Desilijic Tiure of Nal Hutta, Eminence of Tatooine," but let's just call him Jabba. Jabba the Hutt was a very large and well-created puppet. He was controlled by five people: one for his eyes, one for his mouth, one for his right arm and head, one for his tongue and left arm, and finally one to wiggle his tail. All of them, except the one who controlled his eyes, were either inside or underneath him. He is complex and was super expensive to build. This puppet is a million times better than the CG one in A New Hope and looks much better after so many years.

Kit Fisto: Mysterious Origins

Emperor Palpatine, A.K.A. Darth Sidious, Force-pushed Kit Fisto, Agen Kolar, and Saesee Tiin out the window because he did not want the Jedi janitors to find out. The three of them landed in Max Rebo's grandfather's speeder. He told them they must go to Jabba the Hutt's palace. They got robotic parts for the parts they lost and survived. Jabba tried to feed them to his Rancor but it didn't work Max Rebo's grandfather started playing.

Darth Sidious at this time was ordering people to put on the first part of the death star. Obi Wan was watching over Luke.

Jabba ordered the Jedi to be thrown into the Sarlacc. They first met a Krayte dragon and fought hard but keep the stove did the most he used the force to blow sand into its eyes and the other two slashed their lightsabers add it so much it was forced to retreat. Later they were at the edge of the Sarlacc....

The Lone Skywalker War

Now after Darth Fenix found out about this so-called new age, he came into a bunch of ships; but he found the way about 20 feet away. As soon as he went inside he realized the ship was big and fast, and at least was able to fit 50 full grown rancors and how to at least 50 guns and rockets and escape pods and 20 jets.

But the thing that amazed him more than anything in the whole wide galaxy was the new L2-D1 Droid. This droid would create two days before ray freed him from the Toydarian and this Droid is worth 999,999,999,999 credits because of what splendor it has. Darth Fenix took off one hour from the time he realized who he was.

HELP WANTED!

Please Contribute

The Nevarro News is a small newspaper written in part by YOU! It would be really helpful if you could think of something to put in it. Anything will work, as long as it is Star Wars.

It would help to make this newspaper better and more interesting if everyone would contribute. Please do not think that this is a command, it is just a friendly request.

You can submit anything, including:

- Drawings
- Facts
- Stories
- Theories
- Updates
- Games

Please send or give me a copy of your ideas, whichever is easier for you, as soon as possible. It is not the easiest thing to write a newsletter alone, so I would really appreciate your help.

Thanks

Exploring the Little Known Characters of Star Wars

Dud Bolt

Eagle Falcon

While most people who have seen Star Wars Episode I: The Phantom Menace would know the name Anakin Skywalker, and anyone who's seen it more than one would recognize Sebulba, there are myriad of other podracers that would be unknown except by the most curious of fans. One of those need-for-speed pilots is Dud Bolt, a Vulptereen from... well... Vulpter. In case anyone missed where he's from, he named his podracer, with his toy rake-like front to the engine, the Vulptereen 327. Dud Bolt is announced by name he's one of only two million podracers in episode one to be a puppet rather than entirely CGI.

Despite being a predicted favorite to win the race, dud bolt did not finish, crashing into ark "Bumpy" Roose and the third lap of the Boonta Eve Classic, although this is not visible on screen. He survived the crash was taking a Moss Espa medcenter. This incident did not end Dud Bolt's racing career, however, as you can see the Vulptereen 327 racing on Ando Prime on some of the screens in Coruscant's Outlander Club near the beginning of Star Wars Episode II: Attack of the Clones.
