WHAT IS RACC?

The Regional Admission Counselors of California (RACC) is an organization comprised of 175 admission professionals from nearly 120 institutions outside of California who work with students, their families, and counselors throughout California. All of these out-of-state institutions are NACAC and/or WACAC members. They have dedicated the necessary resources for a regional office to serve California schools and provide information about educational opportunities outside of California.

In addition to participating in your school, district, or organization's outreach programs, RACC has developed signature programs, including:

DICKINSON

Q Carlisle, PA

k dickinson.edu

In 1783, Benjamin Rush, a revolutionary in both spirit and life, established Dickinson College with the intent of providing a different kind of liberal-arts education. Here, students are encouraged to be actively engaged with the wider world and challenged to think differently and act boldly. Dickinsonians are guided by a core set of tenets—to be decisive, useful, curious and unafraid to take risks. We produce critical thinkers who see how everything is connected—graduates forever ready to make a difference. This is how we've taught successful graduates of all kinds, from lawyers to researchers to writers to CEOs. Dickinson's brand of liberal arts has been around for more than 200 years for one reason: It works.

DENISON UNIVERSITY

💡 Granville, OH 🛛 📉 denison.edu

At Denison, students have to step up—there's no hiding in the back of a lecture hall, no anonymity. They matter, and they are prepared for lives of consequence by the best faculty—professors who know their stuff, know their students' names, and know how to inspire. Learning reaches outside classrooms, labs, and studios, because this is a residential campus community, where students live and learn together, and where they embrace ideals of integrity, intellect, diversity, and respect for each other and the environment. The outcome is that Denison graduates have a voice. They can speak, write, listen, collaborate, innovate, take responsibility, solve, adapt, and lead. The curriculum ensures that graduates have studied across disciplines, so they are not narrowly trained in one field. And when the going gets tough, the tough get the best education and then go on to lead successful lives.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE

St. John's College is the third oldest college in the nation with locations in Santa Fe, NM and Annapolis, MD. Both campuses have fewer than 500 students each, making us a small, private, liberal arts college. What makes St. John's College so unique is that we have one major and all our students complete the same liberal arts courses. Students take four years of mathematics, three years of laboratory sciences, plus French, Ancient Greek, Philosophy, Literature, Political Science, Music Theory, and more. These classes are taught in a discussion-based method, with all students and teachers sitting around a seminar table, allowing everyone to have a voice. Each class is taught with primary sources instead of textbooks, so students learn from the original designers of the topics. Students have the option to study on both campuses during their four years.
