

Robin Rosenstiel is Ready to Serve Us on the County Board

My name is Robin Rosenstiel, and I'm running to represent you on the County Board.

I grew up on a 225-acre beef and grain farm north of Pearl City. I spent my summers bailing hay and showing beef cattle and my school months participating in 4H and FFA. I graduated from Pearl City High School, Rockford College, and the Keller Graduate School of Management. I currently work for Pratt & Whitney, a global aerospace company, where I help improve operational business processes with our suppliers. I live in Kent and continue to help my mom manage our family farm.

I'm running for County Board to bring responsible, common-sense leadership to Stephenson County. We need people in office who are open-minded, look at both sides of issues, and don't just blindly follow party doctrine. I will be that County Board Member. I hope I will earn your vote on November 5th!

Where I Stand on Local Issues

Broadband Internet Access in Rural Areas

Rural communities like District F deserve access to reliable, high speed internet. I want to work with my colleagues on the County Board to apply for grants, and identify other funding that can be used to improve broadband internet infrastructure in District F and every rural area in Stephenson County. Doing so will greatly improve quality of life for residents and businesses.

Walnut Acres Nursing Home

I support the county's ownership of Walnut Acres nursing home. Walnut Acres provides essential services to our community's most vulnerable residents. I am fully committed to collaborating with my colleagues to ensure the nursing home's long term financial stability. It is a vital service that needs to continue to exist in Stephenson County.

Community and Economic Development

Stephenson County is currently experiencing economic difficulties due to the decline of industries, a lack of job opportunities, and outmigration. I will encourage collaboration between local businesses and identify opportunities for mutual growth. I will also work to bring as much infrastructure funding back to District F as possible.

On November 5th,
Vote Robin Rosenstiel
for District F!
