

Hosted
by:

Sponsored
by:

FREE Client Education Seminar

Sunday, February 16, 2020 8:30AM-12:00PM

Centenary University Equestrian Center
40 Califon Rd, Long Valley, NJ 07853

Event Schedule

- 8:30-9:00 – Registration, Breakfast, and Optional Dog Agility Demonstration
- 9:00-9:10 – Welcome by Dr. Jesslyn Bryk-Lucy
- 9:10-10:00 – Holistic Horse Care by Dr. Penelope Rochelle (Blue Sage Veterinary Wellness Center)
- 10:15 - 11:00 – Live Demonstrations:
 - Body Weight and Body Condition Scoring
by Dr. Lynn Taylor (Centenary University) and Christine Siracusa (Purina)
 - Rehabilitation Equipment
by Sarah Malcom (Furlong's Soundness Center)
- 11:00 - 12:00 – Veterinary Case Study Presentation
by Emma Kerr and Danielle Ferriola (Centenary University)

Prizes will be raffled off throughout the event to raise funds for Making Strides Therapeutic Riding (Greendell, NJ). Raffle tickets will be sold at registration (cash only).

THE SPEAKERS AND DEMONSTRATORS:

Dr. Penelope Rochelle, DVM, CVA, CVSMT from Blue Sage Veterinary Wellness Center is an '06 graduate from Ohio State University, College of Veterinary Medicine. She is certified in spinal manipulation from the Healing Oasis and acupuncture from the Chi Institute. A specialist in integrative veterinary medicine, Dr. Rochelle is passionate about helping the body heal itself. She treats everything from performance horses to backyard pets.

Emma Kerr ('21) (left) and Danielle Ferriola ('20) (right) are both pre-vet students at Centenary University. Active members of University's Veterinary Team, they assist Dr. Jesslyn in the medical care of over 100 horses. Emma's dream is to specialize in equine medicine, while Danielle, who just got accepted to Cornell University wants to be a mixed animal vet.

Dr. Lynn Taylor has been a professor at Centenary University since 2004, and previously taught and served as the Chair of the Department of Equine Science at Otterbein University (OH). She holds her PhD in animal science from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. ('95). A Florida native, She is owner and founder of Equine Nutritional Consulting, providing consulting on issues related to horse care and nutrition. Dr. Taylor also recently became certified as a Pet-Loss Grief Recovery Specialist through the American Academy of Grief Counseling.

Christine Siracusa-Kohrs is the local Nutritional consultant for Purina Animal Nutrition. Christine has been with Purina for 8 years and previously worked for 10 years in Animal Health Pharma as a senior territory manager for Wedgewood Pharmacy. Her extensive equine nutrition and animal health background allows Christine to be able to make the best possible customized feeding programs for the farms she works with.

Sarah Malcom has been a Furlong's Soundness Center Rehabilitation Technician since 2015. She graduated from Centenary University's equine program that same year, and went on to become certified in Equine Sports Massage Therapy through Equissage. Most recently, she also completed the Equinosis Q Tech Certification program, enabling her to operate this innovative gait analysis system used in lameness examinations. Sarah has extensive experience with rehabilitation and physiotherapeutic equipment.

For more information and to get your free ticket, visit our website at: www.legupequinevet.com/client-seminars