

HSP App: Homeschooling State Laws Informational: Connecticut

Homeschooling Laws and Requirements in Connecticut

Disclaimer: The following information is provided for informational purposes only and should not be construed as legal advice. Homeschooling laws and regulations may vary, and it is essential to verify the information with local county and state officials. The author is not a lawyer, and this document does not constitute legal advice.

If you're considering homeschooling your child in the state of Connecticut, understanding the homeschooling laws and requirements is crucial. Here's a brief overview to help you get started:

1. Homeschooling Options:

In Connecticut, families have two primary options for homeschooling:

- Establishing a Home-Based Instruction Program
- Enrolling in a Homeschool Cooperative or Umbrella School

2. Establishing a Home-Based Instruction Program:

If you choose to establish a home-based instruction program, you must:

- Submit a Notice of Intent to Homeschool to the local school district.
- Provide instruction in the same subjects taught in public schools, including reading, writing, mathematics, science, and social studies.
- Keep attendance records and submit an annual portfolio or standardized test results.

3. Enrolling in a Homeschool Cooperative or Umbrella School:

Families may also choose to enroll their children in a homeschool cooperative or umbrella school, which provides support, resources, and oversight to homeschooling families. These programs may have additional requirements beyond those of home-based instruction programs.

4. Graduation Requirements:

Homeschooled students in Connecticut must meet the same graduation requirements as students in public schools. These requirements include completing a minimum number of credits in core subjects such as English, mathematics, science, social studies, and electives.

Useful Resources:

- Connecticut State Department of Education: <https://portal.ct.gov/SDE>
- Connecticut Homeschooling Information: <https://portal.ct.gov/SDE/Services/Home-Schooling>

Remember, homeschooling laws and regulations can change, so it's essential to stay informed and consult with local county and state officials for the most up-to-date information. Homeschooling offers families the flexibility to tailor their child's education to their individual needs and values, and understanding the legal requirements ensures a smooth and successful homeschooling experience.