KING COTTON

Since its founding by banjo player Craig Morris in 2015, King Cotton's popularity has grown far and wide, especially in Middle Tennessee where they are based. Great instrumental and vocal performances by band members Patty Mitchell, George Clark Shifflett, III, and Craig Fletcher are always well-received by audiences. Rounding out the ensemble since Craig Morris's passing is virtuoso banjo player Greg Davis.

BILLY DROZE As one of the most versatile voices in contemporary Roots Music, with 15 number 1 singles, and years of performing alongside Grammy winning group Shenandoah, Billy has earned recognition in Country, Bluegrass, Americana, and Gospel music.

BROTHER MAVEN

is a Nashville-based American Rock & Soul band known for high-energy performances, soaring vocals, and infectious melodies. Drawing inspiration from classic artists such as the Eagles, Doobie Brothers, and other Southern Rock influences, the band delivers a crowd-pleasing blend of rock, soul, country, and R&B.

INDIGO ROOTS

is a Nashville-based American Roots and Bluegrass duo featuring sisters Victoria and Bethany Kelley. Originally from rural South Georgia, the duo combines traditional bluegrass, Americana, and Southern storytelling with rich harmonies and accomplished musicianship.

HERRICK

is a nationally touring Nashville-based country and roots music group led by husband-and-wife duo Donna and Kerry Herrick. Known for powerful vocals, exceptional musicianship, and heartfelt songwriting, the band blends country, rock, soul, Americana, and bluegrass influences into a sound uniquely their own.

THE BELONGING CO. WORSHIP TEAM

is part of The Belonging Co., a Nashville-based church community with campuses throughout Middle Tennessee, including Columbia. Known for powerful live worship experiences and award-winning worship music.
