Training the Next Generation of Doctors

PROUDLY ENTERING A NEW ERA AS AN ACADEMIC MEDICAL CENTER

For more than 70 years, Maury Regional Health has stood as a trusted, not-for-profit health partner — caring for our friends, families and neighbors. What began as a small community hospital has grown into a comprehensive regional health system driven by a deep-rooted commitment to the people we serve.

Now, we've taken our next historic step by evolving into an academic medical center. In partnership with University of Tennessee Health Sciences, we have launched an Internal Medicine Residency Program to bridge advanced medical training with our legacy of clinical excellence.

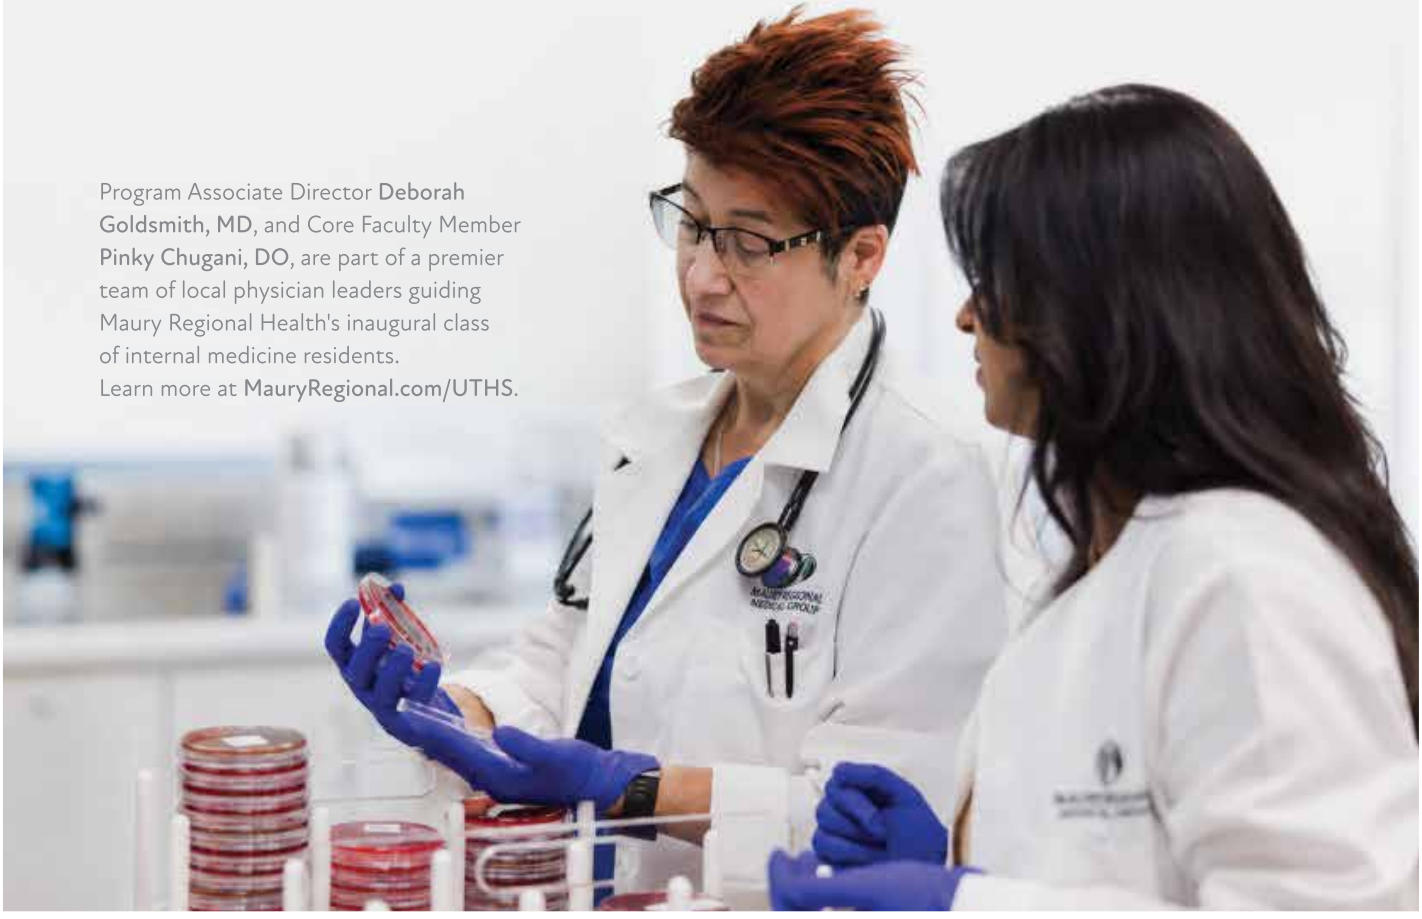

It is a great privilege to mentor these medical leaders of tomorrow who will learn here, grow here and ensure that world-class care always remains close to home.

Spring Hill native Bill Hall ruled local TV airwaves for 30 years. Photography provided

HOMETOWN LEGEND

PAM WINDSOR

For just over three decades, Bill Hall reigned as Nashville's much-loved, authoritative voice when it came to predicting Middle Tennessee's ever-changing weather. And even though he retired in 2005, and passed away in 2011, people haven't forgotten the Spring Hill native many considered "part of their family" when they watched Channel 4's nightly newscast.

"No, they haven't," his wife, Carolyn, admits. With a laugh, she adds, "They would call him Snowbird's daddy. He kept many a child happy when it got cold. They'd look to see what Snowbird said on whether or not school was closed."

Kids and adults alike relied on Hall's sidekick, Snowbird, to guide them on how to prepare for the next day.

"Bill enjoyed that," recalls close friend Gaylen Bandy, "because it would get the little kids excited and it was also something the parents would pay attention to because of their children. Where were the kids going to stay if the weather was bad and they had to work? So, Bill was always really on top of things."

For years, Hall was part of the popular Nashville TV news team that included Dan Miller, Demetria Kalodimos, and Rudy Kalis.

He got his broadcasting start on the radio at WKDA in Nashville. His relaxed demeanor and calming voice resonated with viewers. When he took the TV job at WSMV, he became determined to learn all he could about forecasting the weather, and it paid off."

"People often told Bill if he didn't say it, they wouldn't believe it," Carolyn remembers. "He was the one telling the truth about the weather. He didn't use big words or anything, he said it to where children would understand it. Sometimes viewers would call or write and ask, 'How do you get the forecast?' And he would say,

'Well, I talked to the big guy,' and he was talking about God. He said God told him what was going on."

Bill was not only passionate about the weather, often staying long past the end of the late news during severe weather conditions to make sure viewers had the information they needed, he loved the outdoors. He hosted his own show, Land of the Lakes, and even wrote his own cookbook.

"He was a country boy," notes Carolyn, regarding his love of hunting and fishing. And she offered behind-the-scenes support to everything he did.

"When he got the fishing show or when he went hunting, he'd come in from work, lay down, and when he got up, I'd have all his gear ready. And there were many mornings there might be four or five guys at our house having breakfast because I'd fix it for them before they left."

Hall had the chance to fish with a lot of famous people through the years, and Carolyn mentions singer, Mel Tillis and Reverend Dr. Morgan Babb among his favorites. But the celebrity side of his work never changed him. And Carolyn would know.

The two met in high school. She was living in Columbia, while Hall grew up in Spring Hill. When it came time to go to high school, black students were not allowed to attend locally, so Hall was bussed to Carver-Smith High School in Columbia.

"This was in the early 60s," Carolyn says. "Those were the times we lived in."

At 15, Hall worked a part-time job at Stan's Restaurant and Truck Stop in Spring Hill and didn't get off until midnight. He often overslept, missed the bus, and would have to hitchhike to school.

Carolyn says Hall noticed her before she noticed him.

"He would leave little notes on my locker. I would ignore them at first, but after a while he kinda grew on me. He was a country boy, and I'm from the city."

They went on to marry; Hall served in Vietnam, and they started a family and raised three children together. During the years in between, they worked together as Hall went on to become a well-known TV icon.

"What you saw on TV was the way he was in real life," says his friend, Bandy. "Bill didn't put on a show, he didn't try to impress anybody. He was just Bill."

Carolyn says Hall was special to everyone who knew him. And he loved Spring Hill.

"Yes, he did. It was home. Bill was a small-town boy who made good but stayed a hometown boy. He never changed."

Simple Salami Sliders

Recipe courtesy of
"Cookin' Savvy"
Servings: 4-6

INGREDIENTS:

1 PACKAGE SLIDER BUNS
8 SLICES SWISS CHEESE
8 SLICES SALAMI
8 SLICES HAM OR OTHER DELI MEAT
1 STICK BUTTER, MELTED
1 TABLESPOON WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE
2 TABLESPOONS BROWN SUGAR
1 TABLESPOON GRATED PARMESAN CHEESE
1 TEASPOON ONION POWDER
1 TEASPOON GARLIC POWDER
EVERYTHING BAGEL SEASONING (OPTIONAL)

DIRECTIONS:

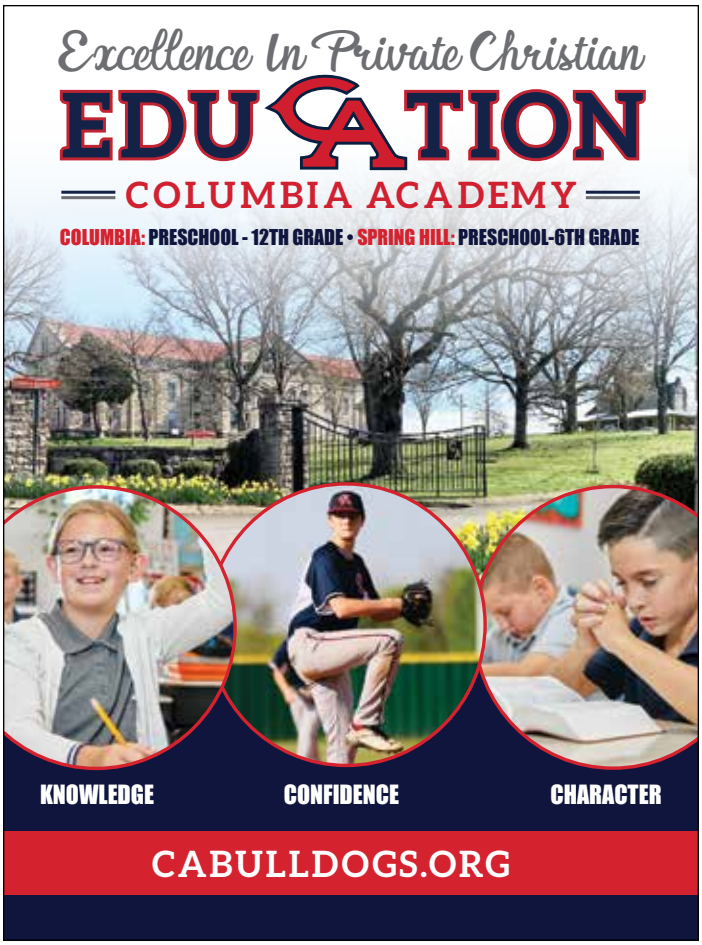

Heat oven to 350 F.

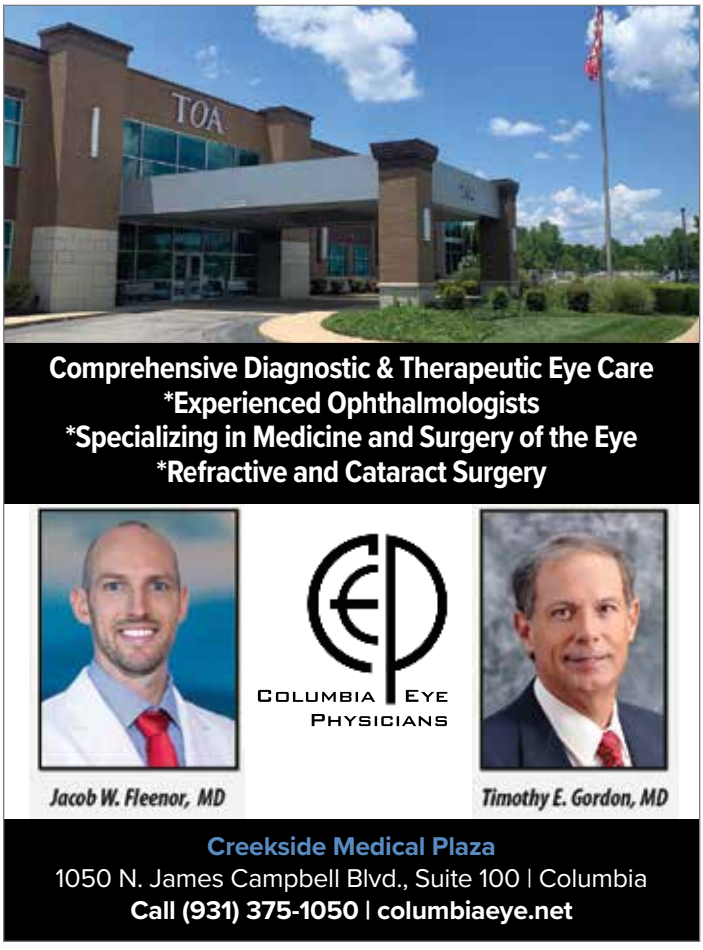

Halve slider buns, creating top and bottom portions. Set top portion aside, leaving bottom portion in original container. Place bottom portion and container in baking dish to prevent sticking.

Layer Swiss cheese, salami and ham then cover with top buns.

Mix melted butter, Worcestershire sauce, brown sugar, Parmesan cheese, onion powder and garlic powder. Pour over sliders.

Cover with foil and bake 15 minutes then remove foil, sprinkle with everything bagel seasoning, if desired, and bake, uncovered, 10 minutes.
