NEVER GIVING UP

PAM WINDSOR

Wendy Moten and David Santos have been making incredible music for decades, each forging their own unique path in the industry.

She's a solo artist who appeared on "The Voice," toured with Julio Iglesias, performs on the Grand Ole Opry, and is a member of the Nashville-based Time Jumpers. David, an exceptional bass player, has toured with Billy Joel, John Fogerty, Crosby, Stills & Nash, Melissa Etheridge, and others over the years.

Their home base for 22 years has been Spring Hill, but their work has taken them across the globe.

Wendy got her musical start in Memphis, where her dad was a pastor. She sang in church, then later in talent contests, never imagining she'd make a living as a singer. But she soon had a record deal.

"I was signed in 1993 during the Whitney Houston era. Every label wanted one, so I was EMI's Whitney Houston. You had Whitney, Celine Dion, Mariah Carey, and I was No. 4, in how the industry saw me."

By the late 90s, as music trends shifted and hip hop and rap replaced Pop/R&B, a new opportunity emerged when Julio Iglesias found her.

"He was looking for a duet partner," Wendy recalls. "I was going to stay for a year, and it turned into 15 years. I got to see the world, I made crazy money, but I also worked hard. I had to sing in four languages. But I wanted the challenge, and I got to learn from a great artist."

David grew up in Tampa, where he started playing bass at a young age. He played in local disco bands and jazz groups, and realized he wanted to aim higher. He attended the Berklee College of Music in Boston, then headed to New York.

"I played every gig imaginable from the subway with-a-hat-out to bar gigs at four in the morning," he says.

At one point, someone asked if he'd consider playing weddings.

"I said, you mean with a tuxedo and all that stuff? Nah, I didn't move to New York to do that."

Imagine your home, totally organized!

But when he realized he could make good money, he reconsidered.

“At one wedding, Mark Rivera was in the band, and he was the sax player with Billy Joel (which I ended up doing later),” he says. “Mark got me in this other band, which is where I met Wendy. So, my life changed from being this broke musician to working with an amazing band of superstars and meeting my soulmate overnight.”

That band included musicians from Ringo Starr’s All-Starr Band, as well as Wendy, then a young up-and-comer.

“This band included Billy Preston, Mark Farnier, Randy Bachmann, and Lou Gramm, (Wendy), and David was the bass player,” she says. “And I didn’t realize they were all actual icons.”

David explained that these were legendary players.

“We weren’t dating then, but he couldn’t have me not realizing who they were. So, we started talking, and the next thing you know, that was 30 years ago.”

Their meeting in that band proved transformative for both.

“I did ‘Billy Joel Storytellers,’ which you can see on YouTube,” David says. “That was my first arrival at that level of touring with those people and making big money. Meanwhile, I was with Wendy, and she was off doing amazing things, too.”

As their careers soared, the arrival of COVID brought unexpected changes. Wendy began strategizing how to revive her solo career. The Voice” offered the perfect opportunity. She auditioned and made it, but three weeks before the show’s finale, she fell over a monitor and broke both her arms.

As soon as she got to the emergency room, she received several phone calls, the first from Vince Gill.

“I hadn’t even seen the doctor yet, and he was like, you can’t leave. You have to stay on the show.”

So, broken arms and all, Wendy returned.

“I thought, I can’t be the lady who fell. I’ve got to be the lady who came back. I figured if I could do this with two broken arms on national TV, I could continue to make my dreams come true.”

Now, after years on the road pursuing their individual projects, Wendy and David are finding more time to work together. In 2023, they released a song called “Don’t Give Up.”

“We wrote that in 2009,” she says. “We were trying to encourage each other not to give up.”

Through it all, they’ve been each other’s strongest supporter.

“When I met David, I was a recording artist already, and I always understood what a great artist he is. I didn’t want to be controlled, and I didn’t want to control him. Some people are afraid you’re going to grow faster or do more than they are, and we chose not to be those people. We’ve always encouraged each other’s dreams.”

They’re still doing it, with much more to come.

DEBERRY INSURANCE HOSTS 10TH ANNUAL FREE SHRED DAY

DeBerry Insurance Agency will host their 10th Annual FREE Shred Day for the community on Saturday, April 11, 2026. The event will take place from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the agency, 5232 Main Street in Spring Hill.

FREE Shred Day has become a signature event for DeBerry Insurance Agency over the past decade. The event was inspired by the need for clients and members of the community to safely discard identifying papers.

“As insurance agents, we recognize the importance of protecting your identity,” said Eric DeBerry, Owner of DeBerry Insurance Agency. “We began offering this event as a service to our community. The event continues to grow year after year. We are honored to be able to give back in this way as we have strived to serve our community since we first opened our doors in 2003.”

DeBerry Insurance Agency’s FREE Shred Day is held each

April during tax season when many people are cleaning out files and paperwork. The event also honors Earth Day. All the paper that is collected at the event is shredded on site and later recycled. To date, the agency has collected an estimated 35 tons of paper for recycling.

“We have watched this event grow into such an important event for our community,” said Chris DeBerry, Owner of DeBerry Insurance Agency. “We have attendees who look forward to this event each year. We look forward to it also as we get to catch up with clients and friends. Please come out if you have papers to shred! We look forward to seeing everyone!”

For more information and updates about DeBerry Insurance Agency’s FREE Shred Day event, follow DeBerry Insurance Agency on social media or visit their website, DeBerryInsurance.com.

Comprehensive digestive care for our community
