- How many consecutive years have you bred rabbits or caviaries?
- List the breed(s) you currently raise and the number of animals in each breed. What led you to choose these breed(s)? Additionally, mention any breed(s) you previously raised and why you no longer raise them.
- Describe the location where you house your rabbits / caviaries (e.g., barn, outbuilding, yard, garage, basement, house). How does this setup protect your rabbits / cavy from heat, cold, drafts, and pests?
- Provide a list or table detailing the number and sizes of your cages/coops. Describe the materials they are made from and how they are constructed.
- Aside from feed and water equipment, list or describe all other tools and equipment you use for the care and management of your rabbits/caviaries.
- Describe the equipment you use for feeding and watering your rabbits / caviaries, including how and where you store feed.
- What type(s) of feed do you provide for your rabbits/ caviaries? Do you offer any supplements or additional nutrition? If so, explain why.
- How do you manage and dispose of the manure and waste produced by your rabbits/ caviaries?
- Outline your daily, weekly, and monthly rabbit/cavy care routine. Be as specific as possible.
- What biosecurity measures do you implement in your rabbitry/ caviary?
- Have you encountered any diseases in your rabbitry/caviary? If so, describe how they affected production and the steps you took to control them.
- Explain your breeding process, including factors such as breeding age, time of year, and how you select breeding pairs.
- Describe your preparations for kindling birthing and the care you provide to the mother and young from breeding to weaning. Include details on your weaning process, age at weaning, and any special considerations.
- Provide a table or list of the total litters born, total young born, and number of young successfully weaned since January 1, 2025. If there is a difference between total young born and total weaned, explain the reasons.
- What factors do you consider when introducing new stock or bloodlines into your breeding program? What specific traits are you looking for?
- Describe your culling process. How do you manage surplus animals?
- What types of records do you keep for your breeding program? Why are these records essential for the success of your breeding program and achieving your goals?
- Create a table or list outlining your expenses and income since January 1, 2025. Explain any significant expenditures.
