Sage Hill Ranch Gardens is a first generation Market Garden, growing a diversified selection of vegetables and citrus fruits, in North San Diego County. We started our farm to rekindle the lost art of small diversified Market Gardens feeding their local communities with nutrient dense veggies, using deep rooted organic systems - doing so with regenerative and sustainable practices. There has been a disconnect between farmers and their communities for some time now, so we have set out to recapture it! In order for our farm to produce as much as possible, from such a small piece of land, we use intensive planting techniques - keeping our farm at just one acre of production.

Adress: 610
Calle Ricardo
