

CALIBIS SOCIAL CLUB

A FULLY AIR-CONDITIONED, HIDDEN GEM. SET AMONGST THE WINDING STREETS OF GOTHIC BARCELONA.

I recently had the pleasure of visiting Calibis Social Club, set amongst the winding streets of Gothic Barcelona amidst some beautiful little cafes, art galleries and enroute to the beach. Great spot in a very convenient location.

First off, let's talk about the atmosphere. From the moment you step inside, you can feel the chill vibes exuding from every corner. I was greeted with welcoming smiles from the staff members who made me feel comfortable and at home.

The place was super-cool and i mean literally, due to the new air-conditioning system that has just been installed. In the smaller clubs the air-conditioning is super effective, which makes Calibis a great spot to get out of the summer heat. The decor is funky and bright with cozy couches and colorful artwork adorning the walls.

I settled into one of the corners with a video game table, Barcelona were playing shortly so sure to be busy. I rolled one up, sat back and soaked in the ambiance, which boasts warm lighting, comfortable seating arrangements and three little monkeys that promise to see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil.

The place was getting busy as the football was kicking off very soon, but because of the layout, you didnt feel like you were sitting on top of each other. That air-conditioner is certainly worth its weight in gold. Not all clubs are air conditioned here and you know about it. I personally struggle with the heat, especially during summer and this place is super chilled, literally!

Several people had now sat with me, after all it is a Social Club. We sat back and got ready to watch Barcelona play football upon the TV.

Now, onto the good stuff. Calibis has an impressive assortment of products. Whether you're looking for classic strains or more exotic ones, they've got you covered.

The selection and diversity of products is truly impressive and rivals any other social club in the area. From the fruity and floral to the strong and potent, there was something for everyone. I was particularly impressed with how informed the staff were about their products, making recommendations based on my preferences and tolerances. They even offered me a complimentary rolling tray and some free papers.

In addition to the quality and incredible variety of the products, what impressed me most was the attention to detail and care that went into each stage of the production process. From cultivation to curing and processing, everything is done with the utmost care and precision. It's clear that the folks at Calibis take their craft seriously and are committed to delivering the best possible experience to their members.

I highly recommend checking out Calibis social club. A great range of products, showcased beautifully in their glass fronted counter. The overall atmosphere was modern, relaxed, and made for a great afternoon.

Thank you Team Calibis.
