February 2020

February Greetings from ET's 1st Vice President – Gavel Taps

Sorors, it's February, one of my favorite months of the year! This month we recognize Black History and American Heart Health. This year's Black History Month theme is The Black Family: Representation, Identity, and Diversity. The black family has been studied and analyzed in many disciplines and has been both revered and vilified since the days of slavery and continues on today. The Association for the Study of African American Life and History explains "The Black family knows no single location, since family reunions and genetic-ancestry searches testify to the spread of family members across states, nations, and continents." "The family offers a rich tapestry of images for exploring the African American past and present."

The Black family has overcome the tragedy of slavery, the brutality of Jim Crow and the trying times of the Civil Rights and Black Lives Matter Movements. In spite of these oppositions to the success of our family structure, we have continued to be trailblazers, innovators and warriors with the help and support of our families and the "collective family", that is our community. It truly takes a village and without proper representation and diverse depictions, it is impossible to imagine and understand the true scope of the contributions that Black people have made on our Global society. As we continue to deal with the realities of COVID-19 (that may be here for a while longer), I challenge Epsilon Tau to continue supporting each other and our community as a family. The powerful, resilient, and beautiful families that our ancestors strived to give us.

During the month of February, we also shine a spotlight on heart disease in women. Heart disease is the No. 1 killer of women, causing 1 in 3 deaths each year. Nearly 50,000 of those deaths are African American Women. In order to continue the mission of Iota, we must be healthy in mind, body and spirit! Let's take care of ourselves and our business!

I would be remiss to not acknowledge the momentous day of January 20, 2021. The ascension of the first woman Vice President and first African-American, Indian woman, to the second highest seat in the land, was the beautiful light from the dark times that preceded, that we all needed. As I sat and watched Madame Vice President, Kamala Harris be sworn into office, I could not help but to be proud, hopeful for the future. It was only 101 years ago that American women granted full voting rights with the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment. As professional black women and women of Iota, we make history each day we continue to promote the mission of our beloved founder. To promote, educate and break generational curses of economic disparity. I believe that this year we will succeed in our mission and journey to continue to effect change. As we celebrate Black History Month, I urge us to remember our individual duties to uplift and educate ourselves, each other, our community and nation.

Seven Gavel taps to Soror Michelle Peace and the joint committee for executing an amazing youth conference, "Unleash Your Super Power". Seven gavel taps to the Black History Month committee for creating ways to celebrate black history month and to all Sorors for your hard work, ideas and support of one another!

"For there is always light, if only we're brave enough to see it. If only we're brave enough to be it." -
Amanda Gorman

The 2021 Presidential Inauguration

The inauguration of Joe Biden as the 46th President of the United States took place on January 20, 2021, marking the commencement of the four-year term of Joe Biden as president and Kamala Harris as Vice President.

Amanda Gordon (pictured on the left) recited “The Hill We Climb” as the youngest poet to speak at a Presidential Inauguration.

Kamala Harris made history as the first female, first South Asian and first African American to hold title of Vice President of the U.S.

Key Things to Know About the COVID-19 Vaccine

Because COVID-19 is a new disease with new vaccines, information is rapidly emerging about how vaccines can help us stop the pandemic. Currently, two vaccines are authorized and recommended to prevent COVID-19:

- Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine
- Moderna COVID-19 vaccine

Studies show that COVID-19 vaccines are effective at keeping you from getting COVID-19. Experts also think that getting a COVID-19 vaccine may help keep you from getting seriously ill even if you get COVID-19.

COVID-19 vaccines teach our immune systems how to recognize and fight the virus that causes COVID-19. It typically takes a few weeks after vaccination for the body to build protection (immunity) against the virus that causes COVID-19. That means it is possible a person could still get COVID-19 just after vaccination. This is because the vaccine has not had enough time to provide protection.

If you are vaccinated against COVID-19, you may still be exposed to the virus that causes COVID-19. After exposure, people can be infected with or “carry” the virus that causes COVID-19 but not feel sick or have any symptoms. Experts call this “asymptomatic infection.”

ET's Youth Empowerment Conference

Epsilon Tau Chapter presented its Unleash Your Superpower Youth Conference on Saturday, January 30, 2020. This mega youth event was presented to address Iota's Youth Programming of Career Exploration ; Toys U Can't Return; and Future Iota Leaders. The conference had 53 youth from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston, Tyler, and Ames, Iowa.

Our Career Exploration Segment of the Event was moderated by Dr. Keisha White of The PREP Factory. "Your superpower means you are super prepared. Chasing Dreams means Chasing Green. Get you an accountability partner to make sure you stay on top of your essays and applications., along with guidance on finding and getting scholarships for college."

The Image and Self Confidence portion of the Toys U Can't Return Program was covered in the "Dare To Be The Super You" segment of the event. It was presented by Katrina Collins of Spark Tomorrow Ministries who asked the question to our youth: "When did you start to hide and stop embracing your superpower given you when you were created?" Most students answered, "Middle school". To remedy this Ms. Collins told adult mentors to start affirming the talents, gifts and superpowers of our middle schoolers. Her three takeaways; Get Moving, Get Rested, and Get Connected.

The final presentation of the conference discussed the Social Justice League. Epsilon Tau soror Katrina Stevens, presented the final topic of the day. Soror Stevens discussed how the teens could become active and find their voices in social justice issues. She discussed five areas of interest to most teens and presented 2021 inaugural poet laureate, Amanda Gorman and two local DFW teens who used their influence to garner an apology from the SONIC restaurant.

Epsilon Tau Future Iota Leader President, Andrell Fisher Jr. and Melvin Randle III did an awesome job of participating on the program and introducing our presenters. Soror Courtney Taylor facilitated the activities; "Unleash Your Inner Picasso" and "Use Your SuperPower Knowledge about Superheroes." This event was underwritten by Epsilon Tau Outreach, Surviving the Game, and the Starbucks Foundation Community Grant.
