

Kim, not even really sure how to start. How do you thank someone for caring and loving your Mother as much as you do. All the years of caring and compassion and while she was fighting that dreadful disease you always made her feel like nothing was wrong and you continued to try to allow her to enjoy so many things. Whether that was going for chicken fingers, having treats, enjoying her time at the hairdresser or just allowing her the ability to be outside. Mom always had a great sense of humor and I think as you would say was a little "cheesy". We know that with her illness that she couldn't verbalize that you were her best friend but she certainly showed it with her smiles and laughter.

Thank you for caring, protecting and being such a great advocate for Mom, right to the last day of her life!! We will forever be indebted to you.

Continue the fabulous work that you do with seniors.....the world needs more people like you!!
