2. Manage the filings

- Keep a calendar of filing requirements and assign responsibility. Late fees and penalties can be very costly and diminish stakeholder confidence.
- File Form 990 – Except for churches and certain religious organizations, all nonprofits must file an IRS Form 990 annually. For fiscal years beginning in 2010, organizations with income less than $50,000 ($25,000 for 2009) need only file the online “e-Postcard,” Form 990-N.
- File Form 1099 – Obtain an IRS Form W-9 from those providing paid services who are not your employees.
- File Form 1099-MISC to report payments totaling more than $600 per calendar year to such persons. Forms and related instructions are available at the IRS website. Otherwise, if the individual is an employee be sure to contact an accountant or other person experienced in employment matters and take all steps required for a new hire.
- Register with charitable solicitation agencies – Yearly filing with department of Agriculture. Work with President on filing every year.

3. Identify and manage risk

Take the lead in safeguarding your organization’s assets, data, and personal information. Risks associated with volunteer screening, vehicle use, and special events are often of particular concern

4. Confirm contributions

A prompt thank you letter that includes what donors need for tax purposes is an effective way to keep your contributors up to date on the great work you’re doing. The IRS says it’s okay to send this information by email

5. Prepare timely financial reports

Prepare the monthly reports for board meeting and members meeting.
