The Steeple People Bring Beautiful Harmonies and Plenty of Wit to the Myers Dinner Theatre Stage!

HILLSBORO, Indiana—April 1, 2019 – The second production in Myers Dinner Theatre's 2019 season will be Steeple People: A Southern Gospel Comedy, opening April 5 at 6:30, and running through May 5 at 5:00. Featuring a hilarious book by Benjamin L. Jackson and beautiful musical arrangements by Travis Smith, Steeple People: A Southern Gospel Comedy is sure to leave Hillsboro tapping its toes and humming along to its familiar score.

A gospel quartet and their quirky pianist Lola are hosting a charity clothes drive for their upcoming three city national tour of Ghana. Featuring more than twenty of the most beloved gospel songs of all time including, "His Eye is on the Sparrow", "Are You Washed in the Blood", "It is Well With My Soul" and many more! You will be laughing and singing along with this cast of characters as they talk about their life in Stinking Creek, Tennessee! This charming and heartfelt musical will be directed and music directed by Co-Creator Travis Smith of Ohio, who is making his MDT debut.

Steeple People features an ensemble of talent composed of both fresh and familiar faces with MDT Artistic Director Jeremy Littlejohn as Beauregard and Alumni Matthew C. Scott of Pennsylvania as Ira the Bass. Joining Littlejohn and Scott will be Travis Bird of Decatur as Jaxson the high tenor and Jacob Clanton of Arkansas as Clayton the Baritone and Maddie Casto of Ohio as Lola, who are all making their MDT debut.

Steeple People: A Southern Gospel Comedy opens on April 5, and runs through May 5, with weekday and Saturday matinees seating for dinner at 11:30 a.m. and curtain at 1:30. Friday and Saturday evening performances seat for dinner at 6:00 p.m. with curtain at 8:00 and Sunday twilight with seating for dinner at 5:00 and curtain at 6:30.
