

Wayne B. Wheeler, MD

Wayne B. Wheeler is the second of three children born to Norman (MD, PhD) and Rose Wheeler in Philadelphia, PA. He received his undergraduate in Mathematics (1966) and was commissioned into the Air Force qualifying for Air Weather Officer serving in Southeast Asia (1970-71). Following the service, he attended the University of Illinois Law School and also studied for his CPA certification which he passed. In 1976 he joined and became president of the Regional Health Resource Center which was a not-for-profit corporation engaged in blood banking, genetics counseling, along with research in medical computing.

In 1977, Wayne enrolled again at University of Illinois and received his medical degree in 1980 and completed his MBA a year later. He completed post graduate training in family medicine at the University of Tennessee Center for Health Science and general pediatrics at St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. In addition to his MD, he is a licensed attorney with a Master's in Business Administration and Public Health.

Wayne is married to Sandra Kay Franklin and they have three children: Janelle Stewart, an administrator in the Surgical Oncology Dept. at the University of Michigan, Natalie Wheeler, MD, JD, a vascular neurologist at the University of Wisconsin, and Emily Lankau, PhD, DVM who is with Center for Disease Control in Madison, Wisconsin. They have three grandchildren Ian (15) & Lily (11) Stewart and Joss Lankau (4).

Education:

University of Illinois (1966): Mathematics

University of Illinois Law School (1974)

University of Illinois Medical School (1980)

University of Illinois MBA (1981)

Medical College of Wisconsin MPH (2003)

Mercy Hospital 1982 began his practice

Scioto Memorial Hospital 1983 – 2000 Medical Director Emergency Department

KDMC 2013 – 2016: Emergency/Urgent Care Department

SCIOTO COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY'S
Annual Installation Dinner
&
Outstanding Physician Award