

Kenyora Lenair Parham, MSW, is an advocate, designer, and empowerHER, and embodies what it means to “walk in your own truth with the courage to love yourself first, then others”. With an analytical and creative solutions mindset, Kenyora has over 15 years of service with youth and families, college students and administrators, and community and government officials, including the late Mayor Thomas M. Menino of Boston, MA and Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley.

She is the Executive Director of End Rape On Campus (EROC), a national initiative that works to end campus sexual violence by centering historically excluded and marginalized student survivors and their communities, prevention through education, and policy reform on the campus to the federal levels. Prior to joining EROC, she has worked for several non-profit organizations and higher-education institutions including Brandeis University, Strong Women, Strong Girls, and Simmons University. Kenyora currently serves on several boards including serving as President of the African-American Alumnae/i Association of Simmons University and an Advisory Board member of The Every Voice Coalition and Culture of Respect. Formerly, Kenyora served on the Alumni Association Board at Boston University’s School of Social Work. She is also a co-founder of Students Rise International.

Kenyora also holds a Certificate in Community Leadership and Social Change from the Jonathan M. Tisch College of Civic Life at Tufts University through the Institute for Nonprofit Practice, which she serves as a Founder of their CFP Ambassador program. In 2016, Kenyora was recognized as a finalist for the EXTRAordinary Women campaign led by the Mayor’s Office of Women’s Advancement in Boston, MA. In 2021, she was named a "Leader on Fire" by IGNITE National during Sexual Assault Awareness Month. In 2022, Simmons University’s Alumnae/i Association named Kenyora recipient of the Community Service Award. She is also a proud alumna of Girls Inc. of Lynn, MA, and a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated.

Working at the intersection of innovation, justice, and efficacy, Kenyora is an effective and creative-solutions leader, who designs systems and opportunities to empower others to reach beyond their potential.
