

MOTTE AND BAILEY CASTLE FACTS

What Is a Motte and Bailey Castle?

- A motte and bailey castle, often spelled as motte-and-bailey, is an early type of castle. They were the first type of castle to be built in England.
- The castle is made up of two parts. The motte is a raised mound or earthwork which would have a stone or wooden keep on top. A keep is a kind fortified tower. The bailey is an enclosed courtyard that was protected by a ditch and a palisade – which is a wall made from wooden stakes.
