

The Ranter's Creed

Nothing can stand in my way

Because I am an unstoppable force

My challenges crumble in my presence

Because I am so strong

My insecurities no longer have power over my life

Because I am so confident

My mistakes are my choices and I am okay with this

Because I am so intelligent

The mirror and scale no longer haunt me

Because I am so beautiful

I can face any circumstance with unwavering support

Because I am so loved

The demons of my past can no longer torment me

Because I love myself

All things are possible as long as I believe

Because God is on my side

I will achieve all of my goals not if but when

Because I have no boundaries

I am the champion of my story

Because I do whatever it takes to win

No one can take what I've done away from me

Because I am the author and hero of my story

I'm coming and victory is mine

Because I am enough