

Culliver Crantz, the award-winning author and creator of the FrightVision middle grade book series, provides interactive brainstorming sessions for your students (or should we say “FrightStorming” sessions)!

“FrightStorming” sessions are extremely engaging for students—recommended for grades 3-6. Crantz's presentations utilize a multidimensional approach. First, he works with the students to generate a unique character, incorporating ideas from your students ... then the fun begins. Crantz will put their character into a story prompt and as a group, we’ll brainstorm a whole story—often a whole world! Crantz incorporates his favorite plot tool—the twist! As a group, we will twist and turn our way through wild and crazy ideas, having fun all the way, with an end result that will have your students excited to write, create, and read!

FrightStorming sessions utilize many important Habits of Mind for kids, including: Persisting, Listening & Understanding with Empathy, Thinking Flexibly, Thinking about your Thinking, Questioning & Problem Posing, Thinking and Communicating with Clarity & Precision, Creating, Imagining, & Innovating, and Thinking Interdependently.
