Nominations 2013

At the Society's regular Board meeting on January 8th 2013, three potential board and officer vacancies were identified: the terms of Directors Eugene Powell and Carlyle Hystad are ending, as is that of Secretary Cheryl Ragland. Carlyle has declined to run for reelection, and we thank him for his past service. Both Eugene and Cheryl are willing to continue to serve, but the Eugene's re-election requires special notice and a special vote at the Annual meeting to make this possible. The relevant by-law is shown below:

Section 4. A person who has been elected as an Officer or Director for three consecutive terms shall not be nominated to the same office unless one year elapses between the end of his last term and the beginning of the term for which he is nominated, provided, however, that this limitation may be waived by a two-thirds vote of Voting Members at a regular or special meeting of Members of the Society after prior written notice to Members of such proposed waiver."

Member Joe Freni has agreed to have his name put forward as a Director to complete our slate. The election will take place at our Annual Meeting on May 19th. We thank Nominating Committee members Julie Dickey and Bill Jones for their work.

President's Message

Greetings to all members and friends in this first Newsletter of 2013. The year has certainly started with a bang for your Society ó sometimes I find it quite hard to keep up! First I should tell you that in December my husband Don and I went up to Northern Virginia to meet Barbara Rhodes, widow of the late Linwood Rhodes. We lunched at Mount Vernon, and Barbara handed me a check for more money than I have ever held, over $600,000, the bequest from her late husband. The board is working diligently to find the best possible way to fulfill the requirements for a new museum that Linwood set out in his will. Stay tuned.

Next we turned our attention to the publication date of Images of America: Greene County, which was January 28th. We've already had two extremely well attended book signings, one at Noon Whistle Pottery on Main Street in Stanardsville and another at the Visitor Center in Ruckersville. Bill Jones has been filling orders placed on our website from people as far away as Texas; other buyers have found the book at local retail outlets; we really hit the big time with Amazon; and we have another book signing in a few daysøtime at Barnes & Noble in Charlottesville.

Thank you to all who provided the pictures that make this book what it is ó meeting with you while gathering and documenting the photographs was a true delight. Although there was only room in the book for about 200 images, all 600 that were scanned can be seen at the museum on the public computer. I do like to think that in this book, long-time county residents will find memories jogged, and newcomers will be informed about our county's long history. And for everyone, there should be at least one thing to find that they didn't know before. We are still scanning and archiving photographs ó please bring them in!

As if all of that wasn't enough, on the domestic front, so to speak, we've been having a very busy maintenance season at the museum ó or more accurately, Bill Steo has been spending many hours waiting for and working with the contractors for the HVAC system and the security system. Both have been having problems. I can't thank Bill enough for spending so many days on this. It seems that circuit boards have failed in both systems, making one wonder if a power surge was to blame. Should we wish for the return of wood heat and lockable jail bars ó I guess not. So we have to work with today's technology. You'll be pleased to know that hand and foot warmers are no longer needed for museum-minding. I thank the volunteers who have been putting up with a very chilly morning or afternoon.

Stay warm ó spring is coming!
Jackie Pamerter

Museum Visit

Reported by Bill Steo

While on vacation this past October some of the members of the GCHS visited the Gwynn's Island Museum located on Gwynn's Island in the Virginia section of the Chesapeake Bay. In attendance were, Bill and Ann Bohn, Jerry and Lori Gore, Ed and Sharon Lumadue, Don and Jackie Pamerter, Carl and Priscilla Schmitt, along with Bill and Sharon Steo.

It's always encouraging to see a local Historical Society so involved in preserving their heritage. Among the displays and artifacts at the Gwynn's Island Museum was a stone knife dating back to over 22,000 years!

The Cinmar knife was found with the mastodon remains, and it was likely used to butcher the animal over 22,000 years ago. If it were not associated with the mastodon the slight oxidation of the knife indicates that it had to have been deposited before 14,400 years ago in the saltwater marsh. In either case, the knife is the oldest formal artifact found in the Americas and is evidence that ice age people utilized the outer continental shelf.

The group was escorted by the Museum's volunteer Director Jean Tanner who gave an outstanding presentation of the artifacts and displays in the Museum. A special thank you goes out to Jean for a very educational visit.

For more information concerning the Gwynn's Island Museum and its Cinmar knife and Clovis point artifacts visit their web site at, www.gwynnsislandmuseum.org .

Inquiry Request

We received a note from Marilyn Durham of Waynesboro asking for help in locating a photograph. If you can help, please email us at info@greenehistory.org and we will pass on the information to Marilyn. Here is her request:

I need some help and hope someone can provide it. I have been trying to obtain a picture of Benjamin Franklin Lamb, born about May 1844 and died 15 May 1925. He served in the Civil War in the Cavalry. I do have a picture of his wife, Mary Ann (Mollie) Sandridge. If anyone has a picture of Lamb with his wife, a copy would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Marilyn D. Durham, Waynesboro.

Over the holiday season the Greene County Library had a display of toys from the past. It included a pair of Skyline dolls from our collection. The dolls, a boy in blue and girl in calico, have painted faces and rug yarn hair, with sewn joints and soft stuffed bodies. They were designed by Miss Mae Hancock, who taught crafts at the Blue Ridge Industrial School in Dyke and who started craft shops to help resettled citizens from Shenandoah Park. Brooks Silvette and Mozelle Brown painted the faces. All the dolls were made using the same cardboard patterns (which are also in our collections), with different hair styles and dress. Our two dolls wear clothes made by Jean Thurnau.

Donations

We thank Robert De Luca of R&R Printing in Ruckersville for a -while-you-wait- overprinting so that we could make use of a duplicate set of flyers announcing a book signing. Robert did this on very short notice and at no charge.

Thanks also go to Audrey Morris, Patti Baugher, Lori Gore, Joann Powell and Cheryl Ragland for baking cookies for the book signings (and on very many other occasions).

Thank you to John Pluta and Holly Horan for generously hosting our first book signing at Noon Whistle Pottery

Thank you to Tracey and Michele for being our gracious hosts for the second signing at the Visitors Center.

Local Historical Trivia

Those of you who are familiar with the PBS series, Downton Abbey have seen Mrs. Hughes played by actress Phyllis Logan. As it turns out there is a Greene County connection to Downton. Jackie Pamerter is the granddaughter of the real Mrs. Hughes. It's not such a big world after all.
