STANARDSVILLE PUBLIC CEMETERY

J. D. Ford

The Stanardsville Public Cemetery is believed to have been owned by the Sorrille family.¹ The date of its beginning cannot be authenticated; however, the earliest headstone marking was the inscription listed on the Virginia Sims stone with the death date of 1856. Thus it is presumed the cemetery was established sometime near or prior to 1856. Known locally as the "Woodson Cemetery", it has been used as a public cemetery since about 1870.²

In deeds of September and October, 1891, the cemetery is referred to as the "Prospect Hill Cemetery". These deeds are sales of land adjacent to the cemetery and this term is used in describing the boundaries.³

The Stanardsville Cemetery is located on Virginia State Route 622 about one-fourth of a mile southwest of the Court House site in Stanardsville, Greene County, Virginia. The size of the cemetery is about three and one-half acres and enclosed by a wire fence in the back and on the west side with a concrete retaining wall approximately three to six feet high.

The author transcribed the names and dates from the headstones and started at the back of the cemetery with his numbering system of rows. The cemetery contains seven hundred, sixty-four known gravesites with an additional thirty-eight headstones already erected for future use. There are thought to be many more unmarked and unknown graves.

Rows 1 through 11 were published in the 1980 Magazine. The recording of information on headstones is by rows 11 through 17, south to north.

Key: Headstone (S) - Marker (M).
