We intervene early to teach healing and love, with the goal of changing children's lives and their future outcomes.

How LOVE truly heals...

At the April Love Heals Leaders- Day of Counseling, children came in with nothing but left overflowing—with clothes, Easter treats, and Welcome Home Bags. But it wasn't just the gifts. It was the love, safety, and connection poured into them. Their smiles said it all—they felt seen, valued, and deeply cared for in every way.

A Prayer for Strength
Father, strengthen foster youth to face the challenges of life with courage and resilience. Empower them with Your spirit.

"I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

Let's Change the Statistics

This statistic resonates deeply with us, as we witnessed its impact firsthand this past month.

Foster Youth need your support...

In foster care, even basic needs can become barriers. One teen without a phone kept all her trusted contacts in a single school notebook. When she asked for another—to do her schoolwork—she was told no.

Foster youth are often denied personal belongings or duplicates of essentials. These small denials reflect a system that chips away at dignity and connection. This is why change is needed.

No child should have to choose between staying connected and doing their homework.

"God sets the lonely in families." (Psalm 68:6)

Let's Change the Statistics

As we look ahead to the upcoming school year, we're reminded of the educational barriers faced by youth in foster care. With strong community support, we can help change the statistics and create brighter futures for these young people.

The Long Road to Love & Healing...

One young client shared how she was adopted three times, only to be returned to the system each time. Each failed adoption deepened her wounds, leaving her unable to trust, love, or feel secure. Her belief that she'd finally found a home was shattered, leaving her to rebuild her sense of self over and over again.

Let's commit to being the steady presence these children need, helping transform pain into hope.

Upcoming Events

Let's Change the Statistics

There are over 30,000 children in the Texas Foster Care System. To put that in perspective, that is enough to fill The Cynthia Woods Mitchell Pavilion AND Toyota Center — and still not have enough seats.

This is why our mission matters. Together, we are restoring healing, hope, and Christ-centered values to those who are too often neglected and forgotten.

How LOVE truly heals...

We're thrilled to introduce a new financial literacy segment in our monthly counseling days! Through hands-on lessons in saving, spending, and investing — paired with real-life practice in our Clothes Closet — we're equipping youth with essential life skills. This preparation empowers independence and shows that love truly heals, strengthens, and equips youth for lifelong success.

Let's Change the Statistics

Research shows that consistent, caring relationships are the greatest protective factor a foster youth can have.

More homes are asking for our help—join us in growing this mission so every youth can experience healing, hope, and lasting connection.

How LOVE truly heals...

Sometimes, the most powerful proof that Love Heals comes from those who see the difference firsthand. Recently, a caregiver who had partnered with us at one group home moved to another—and one of her first calls was to Love Heals Youth. She wanted her new home connected to our services: counseling, Welcome Home Bags, and Day of Counseling.

To us, that speaks volumes. It shows that the difference we make is real—caregivers notice the change in their youth. We are building consistent, healing relationships that reduce anger, depression, and anxiety. These ongoing connections are more than programs—they're the protective factor that gives foster youth hope, stability, and the courage to keep moving forward.

How LOVE truly heals...

Love heals when a community comes together. Through Sleigh the Season, our community is providing meaningful gifts for over 230 individuals in the foster care system, many living in group homes right here in our area.

For youth who have experienced loss and uncertainty, a gift is more than an item—it's a reminder they are seen, valued, and not forgotten. Dozens of volunteers from Tesla and Love Heals Youth will be delivering these gifts on December 24th to over 20 group homes in our area! This is what it looks like when love truly heals.
