

Inner Dynamite

I tried to hide and stay out of sight but I was blinded by the rays of your glistening eyes Shining through my curtains' cracks which never let our love die

It was then,
When I realized
That you loved me with a burning fire inside-That your fire lit my inner dynamite-and all I did, was keep you at a distance Where you were forced to love me from the outside

When all along,
we loved each other deeply from the inside