

Regretfulness

Once upon a moment
Of witlessness

I let myself be placed
In your enticing company

Gave you full control
Of my strengths
To taste one another's graces
But we lost control
Of our weaknesses

We both played a role
In the destruction of our souls

When we ended up breathless
We could see it on our faces

And could no longer live
Together, ever after