

The Heart's Heart

If the earth stopped spinning
Like you stopped caring
When you stopped staring
Into my beautiful big- brown eyes

You'd know what it feels like
To be knee deep in an ocean
Of colossal confusion
About to drown
Due to little white lies-and stagnant in the heart's eyes
Till its own heart, dies