

Cohabitees' Game

Do tell me-
What happened to all
That blistering passion which led-
To those bitter-sweet moments
We half-nakedly spent on your bed?

Yes, I slightly feel used
But our hotheaded bodies were fused
By the burning time that we wasted
Proclaiming each other's names

We fell into a lovers' world
We didn't know- was scary and wicked
But refused to let go

I knew it'd get me tongue-twisted and utterly fucked in the head

Do tell me-
Which one of the two, shall take the blame?

Last I heard, you felt the same
In this lose-lose, cohabitees' game
