

Boundless Space

She was a friend,
Until she left me on my own- to fend

Out of the blue- I never thought she'd arrive intending to make amends
All she did was make things tense

Where do I stand from this boundless space
Had to install a chain link fence
Should have built a tall brick wall instead

She's long been an absence
Annihilated herself from the places in my head

She was a friend,
You'd think I buried her alive but to me, she was already dead
