

To The World

Beneath all things, true love is blind
But above all things, true love is kind

No one understands the love language in our mind

Nothing compares to your heart, so divine

No one can take away, what to the world, we had to hide

I'd rather this, than never to have loved

