

Wanted

She wanted his love
So she stole it from her
Thought they'd fit like a glove

Off to her home, they drove

Boy, was she wrong
It was a firework of lust

The bore was enough,
It forced her to send him along

She wanted a love
Which with her, it did not belong

She should have left them alone