

JDE Licensing/Subscription Agreement

The patent pending process monitoring apps known as “Max-Net” are being presented to and accessed by the dealership, or dealership group, via “Software as a Service” (SaaS) at the sole discretion of John Dale Enterprises, herein known as the “licensor.” All rights are reserved and under no conditions are any rights or privileges, other than the prior agreed upon, daily operational access that will be conveyed to the dealership, herein known as the “licensee.” Neither the dealership, nor any of its personnel, past or present, are being granted the right to sell, copy, share, reproduce or transfer, in any way, the content of these products, nor use, or create, any facsimile thereof. Any violations of this agreement will result in termination of the use of all products and services, and legal action is reserved if an appropriate remedy.

The licensor may terminate this agreement at any time, for any reason, and the licensee may likewise terminate the agreement at any time, by notifying John Dale Enterprises LLC by phone or email and monthly payments will be terminated immediately.

Due to future product and service improvements the configurations of the App may change over time to accommodate and facilitate both new and existing product information.

In the event of a sale or transfer of this software service ownership from John Dale Enterprises to another entity, the licensee will continue to agree to the stipulations herein described unless the licensee decides to stop paying for the service(s) thus terminating this agreement and services being provided.

To maintain excellence in our level of service, periodically there may be automatic license fee increases to compensate for any increases in the cost of doing business, profit margin adjustments, or a rise in the consumer price index. If, for any reason, the licensee is not willing to incur the increase, the licensee may opt out of the services being provided anytime within 30 days from the automatic increase and receive a full refund of any new increased payment made.
