

A New Year, A New Way to Eat Local

What is a CSA?

Community-supported agriculture (CSA) is a concept designed to encourage relationships between consumers and growers.

A CSA involves consumers who support a farmer financially by paying for a share of the farm's production prior to each growing season. The arrangement allows farmers to buy the seeds, transplants, and other inputs they need for the growing season, and pay their farm labor without waiting until harvest to generate revenue.

What's the Cost & What Do You Get?

The simplest way to set up the CSA presale system will be through an eGift card. You will receive a preloaded balance on your card, which will be debited each week. For example, if you purchase a three month (12 weeks) share, your beginning account balance will be $180. Each week, your account will be charged the cost of the share ($15). Any remaining balance can be used to purchase extras or specialty items from other participating local farmers. Your receipt will reflect your account balance.

Each weekly share is expected to consist of 2 heads of premium hydroponic lettuce, 2oz arugula, 2oz Italian basil, 1oz, Thai basil, and 1oz lemon basil.

There will be designated pickup locations and times. Unfortunately, if you cannot make your pickup time, your account will still be charged. It may be beneficial for you to have an alternate person available to pick up your share if you cannot make it during your designated time.

When Does This Start?

Crops have been growing in the farm since 12/17/2018. We anticipate our first full harvest to be ready in mid February. That's right! Fresh and locally grown produce in Ohio during the middle of winter!
