According to Mary Mallett, the first store in Gresham was built by Samuel Metzger on the old Camp Ground site at Northwest Powell and Main streets. Ben Rollins, Samuel's step-son is generally credited with having an early store. The Outlook (2/28/36) quotes Viola Forsyth as saying the store was at the corner of South Roberts and Powell about 1884.

William Johnson, son of Boone and Hannah Johnson, (according to Mallett) built the first two-story building (a hotel) on the southwest corner of Powell and Main in 1880. Then he bought Ben Rollins' stock "which was located across Powell St." He later added ^athe small bakery "to the east."

Soon after that, apparently Johnson sold the hotel building to Dan Metzger. After that Mr. Metzger operated a food mill which stood between Johnson's store and a blacksmith's shop, which was run by a C. C. Miller. The shop was not far from the Baptist church, which was near the school building.

By the time the town had a name in 1884, it was still only a four building village, according to Mary Mallett.

In the 1880's, however, Gresham, although still rough, was beginning to resemble a town. People who had built residences along Roberts avenue and its cross streets, the street was named after an early pioneer, were beginning to want some of the amenities of a city, particularly some attention to be paid to the streets and to have some street-lights.

There were a number of two-story buildings and in 1903 the first bank was established in Gresham in a one-story building at the corner of Powell and Main streets with a capitalization of $15,000. Archie ^{James} was the president of the bank, Theodore Brugger was vice-president, with Carl Lundquist as cashier. A few years later, in 1910 a rival bank began which was called the Bank of Gresham. It was located in the Dowsett-Patenaude building, a block east of the first bank. It did not have as strong a capitalization as its competitor. James Elkington was the first president, John Sleret was vice-president with Emil Kardell as the first cashier. Both banks were forced to close in 1932, during the Depression. The Bank of Gresham was combined with the First State Bank in an effort to keep them open.

Later in the year, however, it had to close, anyway. Liquidation was not complete for 6 years and the State Banking Examiner did not close his books until Dec. 24, 1938.

The businessmen of Gresham were very dissatisfied to have no local bank and overtures were made to Portland's First National bank to start a branch in Gresham, which it finally did opening on April 1, 1934. Several years after that the Gresham State Bank started up. It was chartered by the state on Sept. 8, 1949.

The year before Gresham became incorporated saw the P. R.L. & P opening a trolley line. This was in December, 1902, and it provided transportation from Portland to Gresham, but with only limited service. The branch line was later built from Linneman Junction with the depot on the north side of Gresham, that was known as the Mt. Hood depot. The line went north from the Junction, crossed Section Line road, made a sharp right turn and then east into Gresham.

In 1905 Gresham was incorporated with Lewis Shattuck as first mayor. Shattuck had been the proprietor of a grocery store but had sold out to John Bartelt in 1903. Shattuck had had the business for 22 years and had a thriving trade of $15,000 a month. Lewis was the son of John Wesley Shattuck and a cousin of Mrs. Jake Metzger. Bartelt did not have the store long as he had a fire which destroyed the building. He later sold the rescued stock to B. L. Walrad, who in 1912 started his store in a building on the west side of Main St. He later moved to the north end of the Ely building, built in 1919.(?*

By this time (1905) Gresham was a ^{town} of 700. The First State Bank building had had another story added to it, which accommodated several doctors in its upper story. The Bank of Gresham building had offices in its second story for a doctor and several dentists, although it was originally built for a hotel, with many rooms for rent.

At the time of incorporation there were several two-story buildings with the following stores in them:

Guisson and Sons - clothing, fabrics and shoes
Shattuck, Howitt and Short - groceries and meats
Dan Metzger - planning mill
Carlson and Emery - furniture and undertaking

A free library had even been established --a branch of the Multnomah County system--about a year before with Miss Lida Culy as librarian. It was located in the east end of the John Metzger building.

In the 1905 Outlook, there were several pictures of recently completed buildings of the up-coming Lewis and Clark Exposition. Obviously a publicity campaign was being mounted to publicize the Fair.

Auto dealers in those early days included the following:

C. M. Zimmer^{man} selling and servicing Overlands
C. I. Baker, who had recently moved to the Latourell building from Troutdale. He was selling and servicing Fords. He was in business with his son Ellsworth.
Ed. Osborn, with his bright red hair brightening the scene, was selling Chevrolets.
Southard and Palmquist were doing business in the Gresham Garage. This was a building built for Dr. ~~Stetson Thompson, a trustee~~
Alfred Thompson, a retired Methodist Minister.
Palmquist was soon to leave the car business and turn to making leather goods, possibly even buggy whips.
Latourell and Sons were advertising the "New Maxwell" (Shades of Jack Benny)
J. C. Hessell was still advertising farm implements as well as wagons, carts and buggies.

By 1916 a thriving town had evolved and the following merchants were listed:

Distilleries

9-8-1925 Illicit moonshine distilleries have been discovered from time to time in the Gresham vicinity and summarily destroyed. However, the first legal alcohol distillery of any magnitude in Oregon and one of the largest on the Pacific coast is nearing completion in a well chosen location on south Main street between Powell and the P.E.P.'s depot. The plant, which will represent an investment of $25,00, has a still which has a guaranteed output of 50 gallons of 188 proof alcohol per hour. The alcohol is for commercial purposes only--not a drop to drink.

Factories

1899 Gresham Cheese Factory purchases lot from Geo W. Kenney for $180 /Deeds

4-8-1905 A. Dowsett buys old Cheese Factory. The Corporation dissolved about a year ago. EMR

1920 The potato starch factory started last week and has been working all week with a crew of 5 men. They have on hand now about 50 tons of potatoes ready to work upon and every indication points to a successful year. The first lot of starch was put into the drying process today. G.O. 12-10-1920

1921 The starch factory in Gresham which has been in financial straights for about a year will open again this year. A. Von Readen and J.W. Carroll of Portland have become interested in the Northwest Potato Starch and Milling company and are planning to open the plant at Gresham and make a productive year out of it. G.O. 3-22-1921

1921 Plans for leasing suitable sites for a plant and office for a pickle factory in Gresham are underway. An enthusiastic meeting of Japanese men and a few Americans was held at the town hall last night when stockholders and others interested in the project elected directors to conduct affairs of the Oregon Pickle and Canning Company. G.O. 5-13-1921

1921 At last Gresham will have an ice plant to supply ice to the residents of this vicinity. Operations will be set up just east of Mrs E. Boughner's Novelty shop on Powell street. This ice plant is really the first of its kind to be established in Gresham although there had been a number of smaller plants earlier. G.O. 5-24-1921

1921 The Zweibel Manufacturing company, which has for the past few months been making plans to locate here, has purchased a 5½ acre tract from O.A. Eastman. The property is located north of the Bull run car tracks and opposite the plant of the Beaver State Motor company. This is the first wood-working plant of any size to enter the northwest. The nearest plant making parts needed by woolen mills are in the New England states. G.O. 8-23-1921

1922 Gresham's newest industry is a tire factory. Gotlieb Fudicker has installed an auto tire machine at his place on South Roberts avenue and has made several fabric tires, but yesterday he produced a perfect cord tire 30 x 3 1/2, named the "Gresham" and having a "G" tread, making a perfect non-skid tread. This was claimed to be the first cord tire made on the Pacific coast, at any rate by this process. G.O. 11-21-1922

1923 General Refrigeration & Manufacturing corporation have installed machinery in the former Beaver State Motor company buildings, and plan the manufacture of electrical refrigerators. G.O. 4-10-1928

Fires

- 1901
 1914 Gresham's 3rd holocaust in 13 years, 2 of them entailing great loss, overtook the town early on Sunday morning, when 7 business houses, one residence and one barn were destroyed by fire, leaving an unsightly district in the center of the business portion and a consequent loss of property. The loss was estimated at $40,000 and about half was insured. G.O. 12-22-1914
 1916 Gresham's fruit cannery, owned by the Gresham Fruit Growers association, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, together with about $6,000 worth of canned fruit including the privately owned product of W.W. Cotton and all the records of the association.

A mother noticed that her little 3-year-old boy laid his shoes on their sides at night. "Why do you do this?" she asked. "'Cause," said the little fellow, "they must be tired after walking so much all day, and I lay them down so they can rest."

A little 5-year-old gives us a good lesson in example. When his baby brother was born he said: "I was going smoke like Uncle Joe when I growed up, but now I won't 'cause if I do mybrother will."

NEW REGNER BUILDING

This building, located on the northeast corner of Main and Second streets, Gresham, is the most recent addition to the town's substantial business structures. It is thoroughly modern and is a credit to the enterprise of Arthur Regner, the owner and builder.

The lower floor is occupied by Bert Lindsey's dry goods store and Mrs. Pomeroy's music shop. Also the new Sanitary Market and a portion of Pulfer's store. The upper floor is finished up in modern style as an opera house and dance hall and is run under the management of Arthur Regner. One of the latest and best models of motion picture machines has just been installed.

This hall will be used Friday night, February 5, for a grand home talent entertainment, the proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of C. A. Price, who is about to undergo an operation for cataract.

The price will be very reasonable and it is expected the attendance will be large.

SPECIAL HOME TALENT CONCERT FOR BENEFIT

A splendid home talent concert has been arranged for the benefit of C. A. Price, the teacher of violin, who has been incapacitated from work for several months on account of cataract of the eyes. The many friends of Mr. Price and his wife have taken this method of showing their sympathy and solicitude, and solicit the help of all residents of

HAPPENINGS OF FAIRVIEW BRIEFLY

By J. H. SCHRA

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 2

A very attentive and high audience enjoyed the games held in the city hall Friday night, this marking an epoch in the school-care. J. B. Lent, another page added to his already long educational triumphs.

The essays were excellently rendered, the singing was excellent, the recitation by L. J. Benson, Jr., won applause. On entering the hall received a souvenir of the evening's entertainment in the form of a new cover being prepared by a Japanese boy who painted flowers on them. The program was written by the graduating class. The entire work of decorating and preparing of the program was done by the class. The decorations were pink and white, and "Honor First."

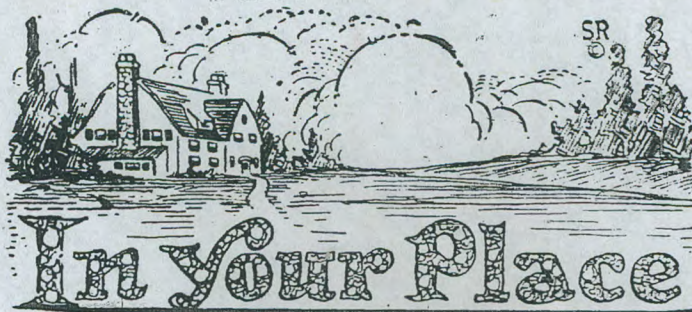

The program was as follows: Songs by former graduates, Lillie Fischer, accompanied by Ferns.

Robert McVining, "The Life."

Wm. Butler, "Farmin' Louise Lyster, "Girl of Luck Lyster. What Main ought to know.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hite spent day evening at the Charles home.

At the conclusion of a fine and interesting session consisting of readings, dia. joette and piano selections, etc., concluding with the singing of "America", refreshments were served.

SANDY

The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brock of S. knocked down by an automobile driven by Sam Harlow of Troutdale 9 o'clock Tuesday evening. From being badly shocked, thought she sustained any serious injury. The Harlow machine, proceeding through the main street, struck Sandy at a speed which has been estimated by witnesses to be some excess of the 20 miles allowed. The child darted away from the adults accompanying her into the direct path of the oncoming driver of which made an attempt to avoid striking her. The car swerved to one side and missing her directly, but she was down by the rear fender. It is her worst injuries consisted of a fright. Mr. Harlow tendered assistance possible for the time being.

The citizens of Sandy have filed a petition to the Sandy city council that all dances given in public places be closed at 12 o'clock. It is expected that the council will take action on the petition.

Many of the Businesses in Gresham Have Continued During 25 Years

Dowsett and Howitt Date Back Farthest; Ott's as Dentists, Columbia Brick Works, Osburn and Dahl Here Long.

Outlook, March, 1936

(By Chase E. St. Slair)

Between 20 and 25 of the business enterprises listed in the directory of business and professional men in the first issue of the Gresham Outlook 25 years ago are still serving the people of this community.

Several firms are being conducted today under the same management as 25 years ago. Nearly 20 of them have undergone several changes of proprietorship. All of them have been consistent users of advertising space in the columns of the Gresham Outlook.

Gresham Drug Company Oldest

The concern with probably the most years of business behind it under the same head is the Gresham Drug Co. The store had been in existence for several years prior to the fall of 1902 when Arthur Dowsett purchased the business from Mrs. Ione McColl, postmaster.

In 1906 Mr. Dowsett was joined by Joseph A. Pateneau. This partnership lasted for almost a quarter of a century, until Mr. Pateneau's death in 1930, when Mr. Dowsett's son, Stafford, acquired the Pateneau interest. After more than a third of a century Mr. Dowsett still takes an active part in the conduct of the store.

Howitt Started in 1899

T. R. Howitt established his first meat market in Gresham in 1899 and while he was in business here earlier than any of the other firms to be mentioned in this article his ownership of a retail business here has not been continuous. Howitt's market has been in several different locations. In 1911 when the Gresham Outlook was started the market was in a frame building that stood near the site of A. J. W. Brown's

In 1916 Mr. Howitt leased his market to Brown, who had formerly been employed there, and for the next ten years devoted his attention to the wholesale meat business in Portland.

Returning here about 1926 he purchased the grocery store owned by Cecil Metzger and in 1929 moved into his own building on the corner of Main avenue and First street.

Watkins Man Old-Timer

C. H. Lane, the Watkins man, another long-time business man of Gresham, undertook the selling of his line here in August, 1906. At that time he resided in a house on the corner of North Roberts avenue and Second street, on the site of the present T. R. Howitt residence.

In January, 1907, he left Gresham for about three years and made his home on the Base Line road near the Twelve Mile corners, or at Terry, as that location was known when the Outlook started. Returning to Gresham about 1910 he made his home at Cleveland avenue and Division street for several months, moving to his property on Cleveland avenue in 1911.

Since 1926 he had lived on Victoria avenue, in Eastman's addition.

Only Pioneer Professional Men

Dr. H. H. Ott came to Gresham in 1906 and began the practice of dental medicine in an office over the postoffice, part of the upstairs location later occupied by the Outlook Publishing company.

In 1908 he was joined by his brother, Dr. W. J., and the two Ott's had their offices in the Howitt building, which at that time was well-peopled with professional men.

During the year 1916 the two doctors established separate offices, Dr. Harry occupying rooms in the building where Welling's restaurant is located. Dr. Will moved to a suite in the Gresham Investment company building, which he still occupies. Dr. Harry has returned to rooms in the Howitt building.

Brick Manufactory Grows

The Columbia Brick works was established in 1905 by A. Klose and Franz Olbrich. The plant is located at Hogan station, but the company has a large sales office in Portland. Olbrich did not take an active part in the plant until June, 1906.

The Hogan plant has grown from a small, steam-driven yard, making relatively a few hundred thousand brick a year to one of the largest and best equipped plants in the state, shipping much of its product by truck and rail. Early in its development machinery for the manufacture of hollow building tile was added and the most modern methods are used in the making of brick, hollow tile and drain tile.

Many of Gresham's brick buildings and some of the finest structures in Portland are constructed of clay products burned in the local plant.

Shoe Repair Business Expands

Carl Dahl, proprietor of the Gresham Shoe Shop, came here in 1910 and purchased the shoe repair business of Gust Larson, harness maker and shoe repairer.

The Gresham Shoe shop opened for business in a small building on East Powell street. As the business grew Dahl added up-to-date machine equipment and now has one of the best equipped shoe shops in the state in a city this size.

During the nearly 26 years of business here Mr. Dahl's shop has occupied space in the same block, although he has moved a few times.

Will Celebrate Quarter Century

Twenty-five years ago one of Gresham's leading grocery stores was conducted by Dan W. Metzger in the old wooden building adjoining the east end of the A. J. W. Brown building.

Early in April, 1911, A. W. and Will Metzger bought out their uncle Dan, and the business became known as Metzger Bros. In February, 1916 the name was changed to A. W. Metzger and the store was known by that title until 1919 when it became A. W. Metzger & Co.

The fine building occupied by the store was built in 1916. A. W. Metzger & Co. will celebrate a quarter century of service in April this year.

The beginnings of the telephone exchange, now a part of the expansive West Coast Telephone company system, were laid in 1906 when Timothy Brownhill, editor of the Multnomah Record, interested other local business men in the formation of the Multnomah & Clackamas County Mutual Telephone company.

Following three other major changes in ownership the West Coast company acquired the local telephone plant in 1928. In 1929 work of rebuilding the outdoor and indoor plant was completed and the greater part of the local telephone system was cut over to automatic service.
