VK THE VERBOSE

A Perpetual Enigma of Grace

SAM 7 — Praying for the Living and the Dead

“Some prayers need a magnificent voice. Some need only someone willing to stay.”

THEIR STORY

With thespian training, a formidable vocabulary, and a flair for the dramatic, VK can turn almost anything into a production. Fortunately, mercy keeps offering them a better part.

VK knows what it is to be noticed without feeling included. Still, they keep showing up, doing the work, and bringing their gifts—with quiet, workaday chutzpah beneath those splendid feathers.

That experience helps them notice who is standing outside the circle. Praying for the living and the dead, they remember those whose names seldom get spoken—and make room beside them for someone who needs to belong.

THEIR GIFT

Giving voice to hopes, griefs, and prayers that others struggle to express.

THEIR GROWING PRACTICE

Letting trusted neighbors care for them, too. Even a powerful presence needs a place to rest.

GRACE IN MOTION

Remembering the departed. Praying for the living. Listening between the words. Staying beside a neighbor.

You don't need a speaking part to have something worth saying—or a starring role to help mercy abound.
