

THEIR STORY

Agency is Ox's thing. They want to build a better, brighter world for us all—and they are ready to do the heavy lifting. If only determination came bundled with the right skills, the right connections, and somewhere useful to begin.

A neighbor helps Ox find training, practice, and people willing to open a door. Ox discovers how much more their strength can accomplish when it has direction—and companions.

Now Ox is Hali's operations partner and the steward of all our Training Spots. Hali meets neighbors on the streets with something to eat and time to listen. With their agreement, Hali introduces them to Ox, who helps turn their hopes into practical next steps toward housing, employment, and leadership.

With Sophion-style hooves for digging in where it matters most, Ox helps arrange the training, connect the people, and follow through when a promising plan meets a stubborn obstacle.

And Ox keeps learning, too. Building a brighter world takes neighbors whose different gifts can work together—right on the streets where we live.

THEIR NEED

Useful skills, trusted connections, and opportunities to practice their own agency.
