

We are proud to share that Michael Wood, SVP of Strategic Initiatives at SPMT Group — was honored with the Lifetime Distinguished Member Award at the AMFP - Association of Medical Facility Professionals Healthcare Design Annual Reception.

This recognition carries special meaning, as Mike helped found AMFP alongside Jeffrey Kent and Glenn Fischer. The award reflects his decades-long dedication to elevating the quality, safety, and performance of healthcare environments across the globe.

Mike began his career as a physician practicing medicine, and that foundation in clinical care has shaped every chapter that followed including, healthcare facilities management, leadership development, and strategic planning—an uncommon blend of expertise that has fueled his lifelong mission to ensure the safest and highest-quality environments of care for patients, families, providers, and caregivers.

With more than 40 years of experience leading complex programs throughout North America, Europe, and South America, Mike has built a reputation for guiding high-performance teams, improving the environment of care, and aligning people and processes to achieve extraordinary outcomes. His background in organizational development, capital program leadership, and coaching continues to make him a trusted voice across the healthcare industry.

Mike's commitment to service runs deep. He has held leadership roles with IFMA, ASHE, CAHED, HCI, IFHE, and AMFP, and has contributed his expertise to Fortune 500 companies, major health systems, and international nonprofits supporting vulnerable children and families. His belief in giving back—both to the profession and to the communities we serve—continues to inspire our team.
