Unlock Hidden Gifts and Talents
While Building the Career and Life You Desire!

Raushawna Price, known as the Giver of Awesomeness, is an Author, Coach, Speaker, and Radio Personality. She is a fierce advocate for those who have experienced bullying. Her systematic and supportive approach to deep, personal exploration helps individuals identify the source of hurt, recover from the trauma, and build confidence.

Raushawna has a passion for helping people understand why bullies come in to their lives and the lessons learned when they leave. Her popular iHeartRadio™ show, "Awesomeness In Action", is a powerful platform for people to share their personal stories of overcoming adversity and changing negativity in to awesomeness.

Raushawna is the former Senior Director for Talent Acquisition, a part of the Human Resources Department, for the 15th largest public-school system in the country. Her experiences have provided the opportunity to work with renowned leaders from various organizations such as:

Shaw University, World Overcomers Christian Church, Prince Chapel A.M.E. Church, Renaissance West Community Initiative, General Mills, Inc, Rolls-Royce, Wake County Public Schools, Education Pioneers: Emerging Human Capital Leaders Initiative, and more. She has also been a featured speaker with OneWoman™ Fearless Women's Summit and Academy.

Raushawna holds a Bachelor's and Master's degree in Industrial and Systems Engineering from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and Purdue University, respectively. She holds a Master's Degree in Education Leadership from the Broad Center.

She resides in the York County, South Carolina area with her husband, two beautiful children, and dog, Frankie. She is a lover of superhero movies and CrossFit workouts!
