Building the Next Generation of Volunteer Leaders

Kids Give Back provides children, ages 6-12, with volunteer activities to improve their community while having a great time with friends.

About Us

Recognizing that there are often limited opportunities for young children to volunteer, Denise Gavilan founded Kids Give Back in 2019. A business owner, Denise's avocation is matching local groups needing support with available resources. In addition to Kids Give Back, she volunteers with Girl Scouts and serves on the board of FACETS.

Giving Children the Opportunity to Be Powerful

Children want to be helpful. From a young age, they learn that helping others makes them feel good. They know that even small actions can make a big difference.

Kids Give Back is dedicated to building the next generation of volunteer leaders. We teach children, ages 6-12, that they have the power to do meaningful volunteer work in their community.

Through projects large and small, kids are discovering the power of doing good –and how to give back to those in need.

“I was proud of the work in I did in camp and how it helped others. I had fun, too!”

- Abby, age 11

What Children Learn from Kids Give Back[®]

- Shows them current needs in their community
- Gives children safe, supportive, age-appropriate volunteer activities
- Connects them with local nonprofits to learn about available services
- Develops a sense of self-efficacy and accomplishment
- Teaches life-skills such as teamwork, caring, compassion and communication

“Kids Give Back allows children to not only feel the positive power of helping those in need, but also the strength in working together.”

- Alison Rockmann, parent

How We're Making a Difference

- Blankets for the homeless
- Pet toys for animal shelters
- Cards for overseas military
- Care packages for family shelters
- Thanksgiving baskets for teenage mothers
- Birthday bags for children in need
- And more!

In 2019, projects benefited more than 500 people served by local nonprofits.

“Our long-term care residents were absolutely thrilled to learn that the sun catchers we gave them were made by young children from your camp!”

- Alexander Gorny, Executive Director,
The Fenwick Foundation
