My Dream—“World Federation”

“...The third dream was a world-union forming the outer basis of a fairer, brighter and nobler life for all mankind. That unification of the human world is under way; there is an imperfect initiation organized but struggling against tremendous difficulties. But the momentum is there and it must inevitably increase and conquer. Here too India has begun to play a prominent part and, if she can develop that larger statesmanship which is not limited by the present facts and immediate possibilities but looks into the future and brings it nearer, her presence may make all the difference between a slow and timid and a bold and swift development. A catastrophe may intervene and interrupt or destroy what is being done, but even then the final result is sure. For unification is a necessity of Nature, an inevitable movement. Its necessity for the nations is also clear, for without it the freedom of the small nations may be at any moment in peril and the life even of the large and powerful nations insecure. The unification is therefore to the interests of all, and only human imbecility and stupid selfishness can prevent it; but these cannot stand for ever against the necessity of Nature and the Divine Will. But an outward basis is not enough; there must grow up an international spirit and outlook, international forms and institutions must appear, perhaps such developments as dual or multilateral citizenship, willed interchange or voluntary fusion of cultures. Nationalism will have fulfilled itself and lost its militancy and would no longer find these things incompatible with self-preservation and the integrity of its outlook. A new spirit of oneness will take hold of the human race....”

dozen towns and cities of India during 1958-59, met prominent persons in spiritual, educational, social, political and other fields and constituted a working committee of 18 out of India council of about 63 members formed earlier. The conveners also issued other leaflets and wrote articles in magazines to acquaint people with the aims of the New World Union. Aden and East and Central Africa and received very cordially by people who took keen interest in the movement. Half a dozen centers were organized and large number of members were enrolled.

The first meeting of the Executive Committee of the New World Union was held on the 23rd April 1960 at Pondicherry. The name was changed from New World Union to World Union.

The World Union Parliament of Youth sponsored by World Union met at Pondicherry at the Ashram Theatre at 10 a. on December 27, 1970 and the subject before the parliament was "Evolution of the United Nations into a World Government".

The message from the then Prime Minister of India, Smt. Indira Gandhi contained these words: "...There is much to be restless about and to protest against- wars ,racism and the desire to dominate, the inequalities between the sections of the people and between countries, and the endless suffering of vast numbers at a time when mankind possesses the resources to end poverty. Ardent and sensitive minds find old ideas, traditions and theories of society inadequate. The current emphasis on the acquisition of material wealth and power, greatly enhanced by science and technology, cannot sustain the idealism of youth. Hence, the alienation which takes a variety of forms, some purely escapist, some nihilist and destructive.

Our contemporary society needs a change of heart and of mind. Material progress must be matched by spiritual awareness. The needs of the individual must harmonize with those of society. A new humanism must be created...."
