SURRENDER

Surrender is not giving up; it's giving in to God's greater plan.

(verb) to yield oneself to the authority or will of another

(noun) the action of yielding one's person or giving up the possession of something especially into the power of another

Surrendering to God is vital because it offers us rest, comfort, and relief from our burdens. In Matthew 11:28–30, Jesus invites us to come to Him when we are weary and heavy-laden, promising to give us rest. He urges us to take His yoke upon us and learn from Him, as He is gentle and humble in heart. By surrendering to God, we exchange our struggles for His peace and guidance, allowing Him to lead us through life with ease and purpose. True rest and fulfillment are found in a relationship with Him, where we can find solace amid life's challenges.

Surrendering to God involves both a conscious decision and a lifelong commitment. Initially, we consciously choose to relinquish our worries, desires and need for control, which represents surrendering to Him. After this initial step, we enter a daily practice of living in that surrender, where we consistently open our hearts and minds to His guidance and will. This ongoing state of surrender involves trusting in His plan and finding peace in our relationship with Him.

RESTORE

Restoration is God's promise to make us whole again, to breathe new life into our weary souls.

(verb) To give back (someone or something that was lost or taken); to return (someone or something); to put or bring (something) back into existence or use

When we surrender to God, we invite His transformative power into our lives. Letting go allows Him to restore our brokenness and heal our wounds, leading to a profound sense of wholeness. God breathes new life into our spirits as He works within us, revitalizing our hope, purpose, and passion. Through His grace, we emerge renewed, equipped to embrace our true identity and fulfill the plans He has for us.

God undertakes the profound work of restoring us, making us whole, and breathing new life into our spirits. 1 Peter 5:10, states, "And the God of all grace, who called you to his eternal glory in Christ, after you have suffered a little while, will himself restore you and make you strong, firm, and steadfast." When we yield to God, He promises to heal our wounds and strengthen us, transforming our pain into purpose. He can mend our emotional wounds, repair relationships, and renew our spirits. Through His grace, we are renewed and empowered to live fully and faithfully, reflecting His love and glory.

RISE

To rise up is God's promise, as He assures us that when we humble ourselves, He will lift us up

(verb) to move upward

Once we surrender to God, we open ourselves to His healing and restorative power. Letting go allows Him to mend our brokenness and fill us with His grace, leading to a profound sense of wholeness. As He restores us, God also elevates us to new heights, empowering us to live out our purpose with renewed strength and vision. Through His love and guidance, we are transformed. As we experience this transformation, God empowers us to rise to new heights, equipping us to fulfill our divine potential.

Isaiah 40:31 encapsulates this journey, it states, "But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint." This verse beautifully illustrates the process of surrender, restoration, and elevation in our walk with God.
