We offer thoughtful customers a place to find positive and beautifully designed products that align with what they value.

Little Green is a greeting card and home décor collection that showcases the artwork of Katie Dean, a fine art printmaker in Washington State. Her designs are colorful, natural and positive and she creates the imagery from hand carved linoleum blocks that are printed in small limited editions on an antique letterpress. Once the original is complete, Katie takes the design and creates a digital copy that can be rearranged for cards, small art reproductions, kitchen towels and dish cloths. Vibrant color and thoughtful designs are important aspects of her aesthetic.

We believe in sourcing high quality materials and producing our designs in the USA to support local economies. All of our greeting cards are printed in Tacoma to support our backyard community. We choose beautiful felt weave paper that has a solid weight and fine texture that gives our cards a hand printed high quality look. Our paper is FSC certified, 30% recycled content and processed chlorine free. Our envelopes are 100% recycled content and we use plant-based sleeves for protection in shipment and for store display.

We believe another part of creating high quality design is to maintain an even pace to life. Slow living is a joyful way of embracing the task at hand and fosters a positivity that so many customers experience with our products. Creative energy doesn’t flow well in stressful settings. Many of our customers are also small business owners who run local greeting card and gift shops, so we have the opportunity to cultivate a “mom and pop” way of doing business that fosters personal connection.
