The Top-15/16 Power Supply Manufacturers' list was prepared by using a combination of interviews, published data such as annual reports, management presentation and financial conferences and MTC's own estimates through various extrapolations of known benchmarks. The power supply industry consists of private companies and divisions of large companies for which power supply revenues are not readily available. In such cases, experience, extrapolations and industry standard estimates have been used.

The list of "All Types of Power Supplies" consists of following power conversion products:

- OEM (embedded/internal + external power supplies)
- Telecom power (outside plant: equipment + services + directly replaced batteries, includes racks, power distribution panels and all ancillary products)
- UPSs include surge protectors and associated services
- Inverters and other power conversion products related to renewable energy
- Accessories/ancillary products and services related to power plants or power conversion
- Batteries used in conjunction with the power equipment

Note: The power supply companies' ranking is done by using information gathered from the reliable sources. In addition, MTC has estimated and extrapolated sales numbers from the public information and interviews. It is likely that a few merchant power supply companies with higher sales may not have been listed in the above groups. This is mainly due to the inaccessibility or the reliability of their data. Confidential information has not been used in the compilation of sales numbers. MTC has made every effort to gather sales numbers from public and reliable sources to include all the viable companies in the list. The Ranking List will be posted on MTC's Web Site: MTCPower.com. Due to variations in the exchange rates, some sales numbers may change. Any changes and updates will be posted on the Web Site as well.
