Sermon Excerpt by St. Gregory Palamas on the Entry of the Theotokos to the Temple

If a tree be known of by its fruit, and a good tree bears good fruit (Mt. 7: 17; Lk. 6: 44), then is not the Mother of Goodness Herself and the Birth-Giver of Eternal Beauty incomparably more excellent than any good, situated within the world of the natural or the supernatural?

Wherefore the Co-Eternal and Immutable Image of the goodness of the Transcendent Father – the Word Pre-eternal, Pre-existent and Beyond-All-Goodness, through His unutterable love for mankind and compassion for us, aspiring to take our image upon Himself, so as from uttermost hades to draw up our nature unto Himself, and so as to renew this corrupted nature and take it to the heights of Heaven, – for all this to find that most-good Servant, and Ever-Virgin, Whom we glorify, and Whose miraculous Entrance into the Temple – into the Holy of Holies, we now celebrate.

God pre-destined Her before the ages to the salvation and uplifting of our kind: She was chosen from amidst the ranks of the chosen of the ages and the glorified both through very most piety and prudence, and through God-pleasing word and deed.
