Have you ever been offended? You may say that is a dumb question, but so many times we look at the person as the one who is responsible instead of looking at it from a Spiritual encounter and our first response is to hurt them back. For them to take responsibility for what they've done and feel terrible about it. But before anger takes root and grows weeds, let's remember who the true enemy is. Satan is behind every hateful deed. Most are controlled by evil & don't realize who is motivating them. They can't see clearly because they are blinded and deceived. The enemy then wins, not by stealing from us or hurting us but by our agreement with the hatred and unforgiveness. Our victory comes when we rise above darkness and choose God's ways. Pray for those who have wronged us & God will take care of our true enemy!
