

THE FOURTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

The Beatitudes in today's gospel show that we are in the center, in the heart of the Gospel. As a matter of fact, The Beatitudes summarize the entire teaching of Christ. They are like seven doors which we can use to get into heaven. May everyone make a choice of one, any of them, one of your choice, the one that you think can help you enter into Paradise, any of The Beatitudes will lead us into heaven. They hold together. Isn't it true for instance that those who are clean of hearts are also merciful or are meek.....? There is no hierarchy in The Beatitudes, nor boundaries, they all communicate among themselves, just like oceans. The Beatitudes are not a set of laws, not a list of things forbidden, not a catalogue for reward. Commandments on the mountain. On another mountain, Jesus gives us the secret to happiness. To live according to The Beatitudes is to lead a life in such a way that the kingdom of God comes among us, in our hearts. The Beatitudes are not only a message, a beautiful message to mankind, but they are Someone, they are a Person, Jesus. Jesus Himself is The Beatitudes: He is Merciful, His is Patience, He is Purity, He is Poor of heart... Happiness to you, Happiness to me, Happiness to all of us, with Jesus' help.

OUR SAINTS AND THE EUCHARIST

Blessed Elizabeth Canori Mora: out of humility, she dreaded to be present herself at Mass, but our Lord will always bring her, with His own hands, the Divine Communion.
