I'm not sure I can - Maybe I can -
I know I can

3 different perspectives, which will most likely impact how you approach the the topic that led to one of these responses.

One of the ways an experienced coach can assist you to identify where you're at, where you want to be, and how to get there is through exploring perspectives.

I work with all types of people who bring all types of topics. One of the many tools I use is something I coined the "Papa Perspective".

Curios? Ask me what it is and how it may be a perfect approach for you.
