Introducing, the official digital release of the first all original album by Tom Carlile:
The Original Sounds Of Tom Carlile

Back in the 1960s Tom formed a band called The Craftsmen. Tom recruited his brother Ray, Don & Jerry Parmelee along with Jim Craig to complete the band. This group with their Pop, Rock, Soul, Blues, and Folk show quickly become one of the hottest acts in South Florida. They became a regular at The Newport on Miami Beach. The Newport was a very popular showroom where acts such as Bobby Darin, Dick Jensen, Little Richard, Sammy Davis, Jr, Tina Turner, The Platters, and many others all played on a regular touring basis. Tom and the bands popularity and exciting show did not go unnoticed. Soon an A&R man from Columbia Records went to the show and immediately invited them to fly to New York to record some songs at Columbia's famous downtown studio. This is just the big break every musician hopes for by getting a record deal with a major label. Working with the famous producer Robert Mersey they recorded four original songs written by Tom in the Fall of 1967. Adding in 6 other original songs also written by Tom and recorded in Miami this 10 song collection meticulously performed and arranged by these five excellent musicians became the first album release in 1968 that began a long and successful career of song writing and performing shows across the country.
