Nessa's owner, Vanessa Thompson, credits her Grandmother, mother, and her aunt for her love of cooking and community. Nessa's Southern Delite was created in the memory of these three wonderful women with the intent of creating an even greater legacy for the community Nessa has always loved.

"To this day, when I look into the eyes of those I serve and those I prepare food for, I can see the same joy I saw when people would eat my Auntie's, my Grandmaw's and my Mother's cuisine. It's the look one has when falling in love for the very first time... It's indescribable! If it had not been for the three of them, my vision and my dreams of serving others would not have become a reality."
